ELIMINATE SEPARATE RACES

by pastor Don Elmore

"And we declare unto you the glad tidings, how that the promise which was made unto the fathers, God has fulfilled the same unto us their children....." Acts 13:32. (a memory verse to teach your children!)

Can anyone claim that this is not a racial statement? Fathers ... children - is racial. The Bible is full of statements like this one. Then how could a Rabbi say the following unless he is deliberately lying:

"If anything, the law should encourage, not forbid, the intermingling of bloods But legislation cannot change the human heart. The only way we can accomplish that, the only we can achieve a Final Solution to racial prejudice, is to create a Change of races so universal that no one can preen himself on his racial 'purity' or practice the barbarism to safeguard it.

The deliberate encouragement of interracial marriages is the only way to hasten this process. And it may be that time is growing short. The dominance of our world has begun to shift, like cargo in a listing vessel, from the White race to the coloured. The sooner we adjust to this fact, the better it will be for our children. For we might well acknowledge, even the most enlightened of us, that we will never completely eliminate racial prejudice until we eliminate separate races." Rabbi Abraham L. Feinberg, Maclean's Magazine, September 5, 1967.

The Rabbi tells his lie that if they eliminate separate races that it would be better for our children. Why would it be better? All that would happen is that our children would no longer be a part of the Kingdom of God! That is not better, that's worse! They would be cut off like Esau's offspring. They would be a mongrel just like the Rabbi.

INTRODUCTION

The occult holiday of Halloween was some months ago, and the day after, Christmas decorations and bargains were already begun in most stores. Black Friday, the day after Thanksgiving, is a special day that has already seen its time as the lead day of the Christmas season. It will still be a special time, but not the main selling day of the year.

Christmas is the Roman Catholic Church's holiday, which is a mixture of paganism with Christian names. Puritans did not celebrate Christmas, they abhorred it. Puritans, even the ones who settled in Plymouth, Massachusetts refused to celebrate this Roman Catholic Holiday. They worked on Christmas Day unless it fell on the Sabbath. They didn't even have a special family meal—they kept it as just another day.

Times have greatly changed in the last 400 years in America. Protestants are no longer really Protestants—they don't protest hardly anything that is Roman Catholic. In fact, they are now called the daughters of the Roman Catholic Church.

Lutherans don't even believe what Martin Luther believed and wrote in his books. The vast majority of them are not Calvinistic in their theology and they do not know who the Bible says is their eternal enemy and who are the chief liars in the world. Many Lutherans say that Martin was senile when he wrote the book that exposed "The Jews and Their Lies" (#327 @ $7.95). The vast majority of Lutherans have never seen or read the book.

Every year the same verses of Scripture are read in Protestant and Catholic (Universal) Churches about the season of Christmas—the supposed birthday of Jesus. But Christians have a deaf ear to them. For it doesn't say that

He was born on December 25th, for that was the birthday of the false god Mithras, and it was too cold for the shepherds to be outside herding their sheep. But it does tell us who Jesus will ultimately rule over

WHO IS TO BE RULED OVER BY JESUS?

“And the angel said unto her (Mary), Fear not, Mary: for thou hast found favour with God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shall call his name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto Him the throne of His father David: and He shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever: and of His kingdom there shall be no end.” Luke 1:30-33. (his Name is Jesus, not Christ!)

Mary was given this information about her future first-born son six months after John the Baptist had been conceived. It was given to her by an angel (messenger). But have you ever noticed who Jesus was to rule over after he had grown up?

1. First, this Scripture says that God would give Him the Throne of His father David. Well:

A. Where was the throne when this verse was given to Mary, and

B. Who sits on the Throne today, and who do they rule over?

The Judeo-Christian cult believes that the throne was vacant when this verse was told Mary. They believe there hasn't been an occupant of the throne of David since the nation of Juda went into exile by the Babylonians, over 2500 years ago.

But they fail to see that Jeremiah planted the daughters of the King into the House of Israel. Jeremiah took one of the daughters of King Zedekiah and married her with the King of Ireland. The prophecy and several of the parables that Jesus spoke told of this amazing situation. The throne of David, which only ruled over the House of Judah for several centuries, would now rule over the House of Israel (that's probably debatable, as most of the House of Israel was on the Continent and outside of the UK).

“Cairn T. at Loughcrew, nr. Oldcastle, Royal Meath in Ireland is the Tomb of Jeremiah the Bible Prophet who was commissioned by God to tear down, uproot (from Jerusalem) and plant (in Ireland) the daughter (the Tender Twig - Teia Tephi), from the line of David (symbolized in Scripture as the High Cedar), of King Zedekiah, in c. 588 BC; the Throne of Israel” is from a website on the internet.

“See, I have this day set thee over the nations and over the kingdoms, to root out, and to pull down, and to destroy, and to throw down, to build and to plant.” Jer. 1:10

“The proof of the fact that this cairn is the tomb of Jeremiah is ‘written in stone’ in hieroglyphics, on the stones within the cairn itself.” Quote from the same website. So how did Jeremiah come to, and end up being buried in Ireland, when he was a native of Anathoth near Jerusalem?

“For thus saith the LORD: David shall never want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel . . .” Jer. 33:17 (It might be worthwhile to listen to Ben Williams' message on 'David, Solomon & Jesus on God's Throne' #W-005)

Is this prophecy true or false? About the year 580 BC, the daughter of Zedekiah, of the house of David, was brought to Ireland by Jeremiah the prophet, and was married to the chief Irish King Eochaidh, who was descended from Calcol of Zara-Judah. From Ireland many years later, the Throne went to Scotland. From Scotland, in the days of King James, it came to England.

[On Christmas Day 1950, a group of four Scottish students removed the stone from Westminster Abbey for return to Scotland. During the removal process, the stone broke into two pieces. After a few days they returned to Scotland. According to one diplomat who was posted in Edinburgh at the time, the stone was hidden for a short time in a trunk in the basement of the Consulate's Public Affairs Officer, unknown to him, before it was removed. The entire stone was passed to a senior Glasgow politician, who arranged for it to be professionally repaired by Glasgow stonemason Robert Gray.

A major search for the stone was ordered by the British Government, but proved unsuccessful. The Custodians left the stone on the altar of Arbroath Abbey on 11 April 1951, in the safekeeping of the Church of Scotland. Once the London police were informed of its whereabouts, the stone was returned to Westminster four months after it was removed. Afterwards, rumors circulated that copies had been made of the stone and that the returned stone was not the original.

In 1996, in a symbolic response to growing dissatisfaction among Scots at the prevailing constitutional settlement, the British Government decided that the stone should be kept in Scotland when not in use at coronations. It was transported to Edinburgh Castle. It currently remains alongside the crown jewels of Scotland in the Crown Room-Wikipedia]

Have you ever wondered why England still has the Throne in existence? It is very expensive for them to pay for the vast amount of living expenses for all of the royalty. And the rituals!

2. Second, if you don't believe verse 32, then what do you do with verse 33?

The angel told Mary that Jesus would reign over the House of Jacob for ever. (House of Jacob is used to denote the all of Israel not just 10 tribes in 'House of Israel'.)

The house of Jacob is not the whole wide world. Mary wasn't instructed that Jesus would rule over all the races of the world forever. No one can make the “House of Jacob” to mean all the races of the world! Protestant denominations do not like these restrictions, and so they ignore them.

“Only the LORD had a delight in thy fathers (fathers is plural: Abraham, Isaac and Jacob) to love them, and He chose their seed after them, even you above all people, as it is this day.” Deut. 10:15.

“And because he loved thy fathers (plural: Abraham, Isaac and Jacob), therefore He chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in His sight with His mighty power out of Egypt;” Deut. 4:37.

God chose whose seed? If a seed is elected, isn't that racial? Let's go back to what Rabbi Abraham L. Feinberg said: “... we will never completely eliminate racial prejudice until we eliminate separate races.” If you eliminate all of the separate races (that means that there is more than one race), that would include God's covenant people!

Maybe that is one reason why God told His people to stay away from the other races. “Lo, this people (Israel) shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations.” Numb. 23:9.

This presents the separation racially of Israel from the other nations. What was one of Jesus' warnings to the church at Pergamos?

“But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to cast a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto idols, and to commit fornication.” Rev. 2:14 (i.e. interracial marriage.).

Balaam told Balak that if he would set out his most beautiful women to the Israelite men, they would cause them to commit interracial fornication with them, then God Himself would curse Israel. There were 23,000 men of Israel that died in this interracial incident. And we have people who are in the church of Jesus the Anointed (Pergamos) teaching the same doctrine in the first century. What about now? Do you know any churches which promote that? Come out from there.

Tulsa, Oklahoma newspaper; Oct. 3, 2015:

“Annual Tulsa Together Service Seeks Racial Unity”

“We’ve worked with the Roman Catholics for many years, and they have an interest in seeing the walls of racism torn down,” said the Rev. W.R. Casey Jr. (Black), president of the Christian Ministers Alliance and founder of Tula Together. Casey said small-group discussions will be held at 5:30 p.m., preceding the service, and participants will discuss the subject that the most segregated hour in America is 11 a.m. Sunday, when people are in church.

He said the recent racial unrest in the nation underscores that the service is more needed than it ever has been.

“We need to show that we can all work together—all races and denominations,” he said. “We believe in Jesus. He’s our saviour. And his prayer was that we would all be one.”

Where is the scripture that says this last sentence? Jesus prayed that all of the races of the world would be one? Where is this verse?

God destroyed many mongrels that were living in the world when He caused the long rain storm that ended the first attempt of the total destruction of our race. What is happening now is that our enemies are attempting to destroy all of us again. It is similar to what happened in South Africa when the Zulus held their day of reconciliation with the Voortrekkers. Blasphemy!

They may try to destroy God’s Covenant people but they will not succeed. They have drastically lowered the number of Israelites by birth control, abortions, vaccinations, drug medicines and race-mixing [I once spoke to someone who was interracially married, and he said it didn’t matter because they were both past the time of having children. I pointed out that he is still setting an example to younger people, and condoning the practice by his example—he got mad at me, because he didn’t want to separate]. They are flooding the countries of Israelites with foreigners so that the Israelites will soon be a minority in their own countries. But they will not totally succeed [but Christian Israelites should move away from areas of many racial aliens and move to be closer to Christian Israel kin-folk].

“If those ordinances depart from me, saith the Lord, then the seed of Israel shall cease from being a nation before me.” Jer. 31:36. (the LXX word for ‘seed’ is SPERMA—i.e. physical offspring)

Those ordinances, the sun and moon, have not disappeared yet, and so Israel is still the same people today. And they will remain the same people in the future.

Do they see that they are trying to get Israel to violate God’s Law of separation? They want Israel to mix and have all the races of the world present in their countries.

But how many times does the Bible say?

“LORD God of Israel” 110 times.

“God of Israel” 90 times.

“Holy One of Israel” 31 times.

“People of Israel” 19 times.

“My people” 231 times.

It never says: the LORD God of all the races of the earth. But that is what most so-called Christians believe

ZACHARIAS’ TESTIMONY

I’ll never forget the sermon that was given by Dan at our church, probably over ten years ago. He told of a man, who could not speak for nine months, what he would say once he got his power of speech back. That man was Zacharias, John the Baptist’s father.

He began to speak after he wrote on a writing table that his newly born son would not be named after himself, Zacharias, but his name would be Johannes (John). This was the name that was given him by God. When he wrote that, his tongue was finally loosed and he began to talk.

“And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel: for He hath visited and redeemed His people.” Luk. 1:67-77.

Notice that when Zacharias said his first words, he was willed with holy ghost. His first sentence was “Blessed be the Lord God of Israel.” He didn’t say: “Blessed be the Lord God of all races.” His sentence continued by saying: “For He hath visited and redeemed His people.” He didn’t say: “For He hath visited and redeemed all the races of the world.”

“And hath raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of His servant David; As He spake by the mouth of His holy prophets, which have been since the world began; That we should be saved from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us.” (That’s a salvation you don’t hear much about from the churches - even though it may be personal) rightful heir of the King of Israel. And he continued to tell her that they (Israel) should be saved from “our enemies” and from “all that hate us.” This is a shock to most Judeo-Christians: that true Christians have enemies and that people hate us. They are so confused that they say that Jesus loves everyone and died for everyone, and everyone has the same opportunity to be saved. That would include the people who are “our enemies” and the people who “hate us.”

“To perform the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember His holy covenant; The oath which He swore to our father Abraham. That He would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve Him without fear; In holiness and righteousness before Him, all the days of our life.” Luk. 1:72-75.

Tell me who the “us” and “we” are in verse 74? Who was promised to receive the mercy given in the Covenant to their fathers? None other than the racial seed of Israel, who would be freed from their enemies and provided the opportunity to serve our God without fear.

“And thou, child, shall be called the prophet of the Highest: for thou shalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways” To give knowledge of salvation unto His people by the remission of their sins,” vs 76-77.

This is one of many scriptures that state that those to be saved were already Jesus’ people before He came, but who were in an unsaved state. Were His people His people before they received knowledge of their salvation or after?

Isaiah 53 is a chapter that is read during Easter and Christmas. It tells of the 16 things that were done to our Saviour:

1. His visage was marred,
2. His form was marred,
3. They disbelieved in Him,
4. They despised Him,
5. They rejected Him,
6. They hid their faces from Him,
7. They esteemed Him of no value,
8. They esteemed Him as suffering justice for His own crimes,
9. They went away from Him,
10. They ignored Him and went their own ways,
11. They oppressed Him,
12. They afflicted Him,
13. They slew Him in Anger,
14. They buried Him with the wicked,
15. They classed Him as a criminal.

But they fail to notice who He suffered all of this for? They believe that He suffered for all the races of humans in the earth; but Isaiah 53:8 says something way different: "...for the transgression of MY PEOPLE was He stricken."

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION

Jackson, Miss (BP)-- Racism is from Satan and his demonic forces, and the only hope for its defeat is the church of Jesus Christ united across societal divisions, Southern Baptist Convention President Ronnie Floyd told a culturally diverse group of Baptists in Mississippi Nov. 4.

"I believe that the issue of racism is from Satan and the demonic forces of hell," Floyd told hundreds gathered at Mission Mississippi's racial reconciliation celebration at the Jackson Convention Center. "Racism is completely opposite from the message of Jesus Christ; it is completely opposite of the message of love, it is completely opposite of the message of dignity, value and the sanctity of human life. It is completely opposite of the message of reconciliation."

So, what the Southern Baptists used to believe was from Satan and his demonic forces? This is crazy! This is calling evil good and good evil. Let us look at just what the Southern Baptist Convention listed as their points of belief on this issue with my (D.E. comments in []):

"Whereas, The Scriptures teach that God has created all men and women in His image (Genesis 1:27) and has made from one man and one woman all peoples to live on the earth (Genesis 3:20; Acts 17:26);"

"And hath made of one [blood] all nations of men for to dwell on the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed and the bounds of their habitation...." (Acts 17:26) and.."

[The word "blood" is not in the Greek translation of this verse; it is simply added: wrongly I might add - (see article in last months CM #373). The "all nations" of the earth to dwell is the Israel nations: Sweden, Finland, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Holland, France, Iceland, the UK, the USA, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, etc.

Floyd presented the church as one body of Christ (body of anointed people), descended from one man and comprising one race. "There is only one race, the human race. We all come from one man, Adam. Every nationality comes from Adam. Every ethnicity on this earth comes from Adam," Floyd said, referencing Acts 17:26-28.

"The Scripture says from one man He has made every nationality to live on the whole earth and has determined their appointed times and boundaries of where they live. He did this so that they might seek God and perhaps they might reach out and find Him, though He is not far from each of us. For in Him we live, and move and exist."

This is nothing more than a repeat of what "Answers in Genesis" believes. So, there is no race that could be older than 6000 years or the age of Adam. If a race is older than that, how could they have come from him?]

Whereas, God loves the world (John 3:16), sending Jesus to die for the sins of the whole world (1 John 2:2), and, in Christ, is reconciling to Himself people from every tribe, tongue, and nation (Rev. 5:9); and"

"And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof; for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation...."

[It is popular to miss the meaning of "out" (ek) and make this to mean "of" instead of "out of" to try and accommodate every race. The prophet only spoke about Israel in connection with both the blood and who is gathered to the City.]

Whereas, our justification before God is based on faith in Jesus alone and not in our ethnicity (Galatians 3:27-28) and"

"For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" Gal. 3:27-28.

[What these two verses are saying is that it does not matter whether or not the Israelites came from Judea or Greece, or whether they had been in slavery or free or whether they were male or female. They are now all one anointed people belonging to Jesus]

"Whereas, God has made believers one in [anointing] Christ, clothed in the righteousness of [Jesus] Christ, and uniquely qualified to stand together in faith (Ephesians 2:15-16); and"

"Having abolished in His flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances: for to make in Himself of twain one new man, so making peace: And that He might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby..."

[They always use these verses to try and show a scripture reference for their false beliefs. Paul was writing to 'Gentile' Christians (Ephesians 2:11), who were:

1. "without the anointed/anointing;
2. Aliens to Israel's blessings;
3. Strangers to the covenants;
4. Having no hope in God; and
5. Without God in the world."

They used to be far off but were now made near by the blood of Jesus the Christ. The blood of Jesus was necessary to reconcile the two men into one. What was put away was the animal sacrifices that gave them only one year of grace.

Who were these two men? The House of Judah and the House of Israel (Gentiles) who were in a divorced state for over 700 years which caused them to be without hope.

The two parties concerned are the House of Judah and the House of Israel, not Israelites and non-Israelites. The "middle wall of partition" was between these two. In truth then, is there any other race "like unto thee" (Deut. 33:19)?]

"Whereas, The Lord has given His people the mission of making disciples from every nation (Matthew 28:19); and"

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: ..."

[They totally ignore the multitude of verses that teach who the "all nations" are. Here is one of them:

"He has shown His word unto JACOB, and his statutes unto ISRAEL. He hath not dealt so with any nation, and as for His judgments, they (the other nations) have not known them. Praise ye the LORD." Psalm 147:19-20.

These two verses are very limiting and specific and relate exclusively to Israel as a race. The Southern Baptists, as well as almost all other so-called Christian of today, do not believe this.

This is a clear statement, and note this spoken word is NOT given to other races! This is not a popular concept of popular teaching now, but it is confirmed in both Testaments.

"The Word which God sent to the Children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (He is Lord of all;)"

The Apostle Paul agrees with Psalm 147, but the Southern Baptist Convention does not. They don't even mention the Covenant that was made with our fathers. And the "blood of the covenant" that was that was instrumental in providing our salvation.

Psalm 147 said "He has not dealt so with any nation" and the Southern Baptist Convention and all the other racial reconciliation committees totally ignore it. But Israel is unique! The whole Bible is about Israel and Israelites. Non-Israel races are mentioned in the Bible two ways:

1. They impinge upon Israel,
2. In connection with world empires.

It is not difficult to conclude that the Bible is a book primarily about God's purposes for Israel (as a people) because Jehovah is consistently declared to be God of this one people. Because we do not find this expression of purpose for other races, we cannot presume anything that is not said about them.]

"Whereas, Racism is sin because it disregards the image of God in all people and denies the truth of the Gospel that believers are all one in Him;

Whereas, in 1995, the Southern Baptist Convention publicly repented of its own complicity in the sin of racism that has divided both the body of Christ and the broader culture; and

Whereas, We grieve over the continued presence of racism and the recent escalation of racial tension in our nation; and

Whereas, The Southern Baptist Convention has taken numerous steps to enlist qualified individuals of all races and ethnicities for leadership roles; and

Whereas, Southern Baptists, in both our congregations and entities, increasingly reflect the racial and ethnic diversity in our communities and nation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the messengers to the Southern Baptist Convention meeting in Columbus, Ohio, June 16-17, 2015, rededicate ourselves to the holy responsibility and privilege of loving and discipling people of all races and ethnicities in our communities; and be it further

Resolved, That we urge churches to demonstrate their heart for racial reconciliation by seeking to increase racial and ethnic diversity in church staff roles, leadership positions, and church membership; and be it further

Resolved, That we urge Southern Baptist entities and Convention committees to make leadership appointments that reflect the racial and ethnic diversity of the body of Christ and of the Southern Baptist Convention; and be it further

Resolved, That we continually prioritize and monitor our progress inadequately representing the increasing racial and ethnic diversity of our communities in our local congregations and our entities; and be it finally

Resolved, That we call on Southern Baptists to be faithful ambassadors of reconciliation in their personal relationships and local communities as they demonstrate the power of the Gospel to reconcile all persons in Christ."

[This is the problem. They say that what we believe is from satan and his demonic forces; we say that what they believe is the teaching of the total destruction of our race - and all races. Who is correct?]

CONCLUSION

Are they all the same?

"For what nation is there so great, who hath God so nigh unto them, as the LORD our God is in all things that we call upon Him for?" Deut. 4:7.

"And what ONE Nation in the earth is like thy people, even like Israel whom God went to redeem a People and to make Himself a name." 2 Sam 7:23. It is Israel alone who are stated to be the people God went to redeem.

"Out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel." Matt. 2:6. Here we are told that Jesus' ultimate rule is stated to be over Israel.

"Lord will you at this time restore again the Kingdom to Israel?" Acts 1:6. The disciples asked Jesus right before He ascended this question after 40 days of conversing with them on the subject of the Kingdom. The Kingdom once was the entire Israel nation, then it had some changes: would He restore again the Kingdom to Israel? His parables led up to that question, as many of them taught this mystery: That the kingdom, which was first the entire Israel nation, (then went to Judah, then went to a perverted rule of "bad figs" and Edomites), would go back to the House of Israel ruled over by the House of David.

"The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt as strangers in the land of Egypt, and with an high arm brought He them out of it." Acts 13:17. This was Paul, addressing the people in Antioch of Pisidia, who he addressed as "Men of Israel." and went on to say, "And we declare unto you glad tidings, how that the promise which was made unto the fathers, God hath fulfilled the same unto us their children..." Acts 13:32

There are a multitude of Old Testament scriptures confirming this racial selection. We cannot ignore the relationship between Israel, "our fathers" and the people being addressed. They are the same race!

"Ye are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with our fathers, saying unto Abraham, And in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed." (kindred usually denotes a familial connection, as in: one's family and relations; relationship by blood)

This is a racial statement! It concerns only one race. Scripture is not supposed to be racist according to popular anti-Christian doctrine. So when could this covenant to "our fathers" have changed after the Book of Acts? For this was written after the crucifixion and resurrection of our Saviour.

"Be it known therefore unto you, that the salvation of God is sent unto the Gentiles (those from the divorced house of Israel), and they will hear it. And when he had said these words, the Jews departed, and had great reasoning among themselves." Acts 28:28-29.

By "Jews" they mean wrongly, that it is Israel that is finished with the gospel. They say that "Israel and Jew is interchangeable in the Scripture." But it is not!

The Bible tells us that Israel was divided into two separate kingdoms: The House of Judah and the House of Israel. Question: Which one, or was it both, that are interchangeably called "Jews."

The House of Israel can't be for they were taken captive by the Assyrians and removed from the Promised Land a long time before the Edomites became imposters of Judah. Edomites, themselves, publicly claim to be descendants of Judah or the kingdom of Judah: Judah, Benjamin and Levi; while their own encyclopedia says they are descended from Esau.

Since the lost tribes of the House of Israel are alive and well and they hold the birthright promise of the Abrahamic Covenant; what name are they called? Not once are they called Jews, but they are called Gentiles.

At the end of Luke's letter in the book of Acts, he says that Paul stated that he was in prison because of his "hope for Israel" (Acts 28:20). It all fits.

You can't hold these two opposing positions: Either you believe Mr. Floyd of the Southern Baptist Convention that said that racism is of the demonic forces or you are a Christian Identity believer. It is impossible to believe and teach both the traditional universal gospel to all races and the exclusive Kingdom of Heaven over Israel at the same time.

Do you believe Mr. Floyd and the Roman Catholics, and the Orthodox Catholics, and all the Protestants, and all the Evangelicals, and all the Spiritualists, and all the racial reconciliationists, and all the "non-Israelites" Christians, and all the "mongrel" Christians, etc. or do you believe Christian Identity?

Do we deny what the God of OUR fathers has created and ordered in our ordained place as His only Covenant People?

Blessed be the LORD God of Israel!

interesting letter to the editor of the Longreach Leader
30/03/2017 - Dear Editor,

May I please submit this letter for publication?

Who remembers the Trojan Horse? The Greeks were unable to capture Troy city. They built a huge wooden horse with some of their soldiers inside, left this huge horse in front of Troy's gates and pretended to retreat. The Trojans pulled the horse inside their city, opened their stubbies and celebrated. At night, the Greeks climbed out of the horse, opened the city gates, and let in the Greek army who massacred the Trojans.

Around January, our anti-Australian Government was proposing to bring into Australia many thousands of foreign troops from Singapore. There is no need for foreign troops to be in Australia, especially in peacetime. Like the mice belling the cat, if these foreign troops don't want to leave, who is going to make them. These troops could be used in a World Government Coup D'etat of Australia.

South Africa was said to be the world's second highest country for murder. The famous historian, the late Ivor Benson said Australia is also planned under World Government to lose our civilization.

Our minor parties and Independents seem to have saved us from our Government's idea to "forcibly" resume valuable agricultural land for these foreign soldiers to use, but has the "quiet" invasion of these foreign troops been cancelled yet?

In our God-Created world, both people and animals were meant to live among their own kind. Even Australian farmers understand that dingoes and sheep are not multicultural. The Aboriginal leader the Reverend Cedric Jacobs M.B.E., himself publicly stated back in 1989, "The multicultural experiment in Australia has failed, and should be abandoned before any further damage occurs."

We overlook at our peril, the fact that the World Government dictatorship, with its control over the world's finance, plans to do more world damage yet.

A stranger living in a United Country can be treated as a valued guest, but a policy of blind multiculturalism can only bring despair, disintegration and retribution. As well as turning back to "truth," Australia needs to return to our "own" interest-free money system, like we had briefly in our 1912-1924 Golden Age. - sincerely, Alan Barton.

WHAT'S BEHIND THE GAY AGENDA?

by Rod Hall

Western societies are going through many fundamental changes—perhaps none so far-reaching as those pushed by promoters of the gay agenda.

In most civilizations traditional marriage is considered a fundamental institution and the backbone of a stable society. Yet today we're seeing one of the greatest attempts at social re-engineering in history in the fight to uproot the definition of marriage to include same-sex partners. It threatens the very foundation of the traditional family already battered by the prevalence of pre-marital sex, unmarried couples living together and rampant divorce.

As you know, we view trends and events in culture and society through the prism of the Bible, the revealed Word of God. When societal changes run contrary to biblical revelation, it's necessary for us to keep our readers informed of influences that are detrimental to their future and that of their families. So what's going on? What's behind the gay agenda that's sweeping in this dramatic change?

WHAT IS THE GAY AGENDA?

If you were to ask gay activists about their agenda, the vast majority would insist there is no such thing as a gay agenda. In fact, proponents instruct their followers that such terminology should be avoided. A good example can be found on the website of the Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation (GLAAD) under "GLAAD Media Reference Guide—Offensive Terms to Avoid":

"Offensive: 'gay agenda' or 'homosexual agenda' -

"Preferred: Accurate descriptions of the issues. . . ."

"Lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) people are motivated by many of the same hopes, concerns and desires as other everyday people

"Notions of a so-called 'homosexual agenda' are rhetorical inventions of anti-gay extremists seeking to create a climate of fear by portraying the pursuit of equal opportunity for LGBT people as sinister"

So while the gay activists clearly have an agenda, they want to hide that fact by replacing the word "agenda" with more euphemistic terms.

But is it really sinister to provide an honest evaluation of what is really taking place? The fact is, there is a gay agenda. Simply put, it's an organised effort to produce political, social and religious change within society that will lead to tolerating—and eventually accepting as normal—homosexual relationships (recently, Vatican police busted up a homosexual, drug-fuelled orgy at a Cardinal's residence at the Vatican—the cardinal was a close advisor to the Pope. Homosexual sex is not against the law in the Vatican. How long before pedophilia joins the ranks of the LGBTQI? CIM).

LET'S DEFINE OUR WORDS

In this article, "gay" (or "lesbian," if female) refers to one who is actively engaging in a homosexual lifestyle, indulging in sexual relationships and activity. We are not using the word "gay" to refer to someone who merely has a homosexual attraction or leaning, but does not act out his or her temptations by engaging in sexual actions. This attraction or leaning is often labelled as same-sex-attraction, or SSA for short.

WHAT DRIVES THE AGGRESSIVENESS OF THE GAY AGENDA?

Why is there so much zeal—and at times militant rhetoric and actions—behind the gay agenda? In part it's reactionary against the past. It's understandable that gays want to avoid persecution as severe as they once felt from some religious, social and political groups. They want to avoid this deeply painful treatment fraught with fear, isolation and ridicule.

Until recent years, many homosexuals felt publicly scorned by some who view homosexual acts as the worst of sins—usually with little or no mercy shown

Another aspect, though, is that, as increasing numbers in society drift further from traditional values, they inevitably join ranks to push acceptance of them and their values by wider society. And the more gains they make, the more brazen they become in their efforts—even to the point of tearing down traditional values. The root of the problem, however, is ultimately spiritual, as we will later consider.

MANY ORGANIZATIONS WITH SPECIFIC PLANS

While not all homosexuals support the gay agenda or are actively involved in trying to redefine marriage, many gay organizations are involved, as Michael Brown [points out in his 2011 book A Queer Thing Happened to America: And What a Long Strange Trip It's Been.

As he documents, "There are well-funded, highly motivated, sharply-focused gay activist organizations such as HRC (Human Rights Campaign) and NGLTF (National Gay and Lesbian Task Force) and PFLAG (Parents, Families and Friends of Lesbians and Gays) and GLSEN (Gay, Lesbian and Straight Education Network) and GLAAD (Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation) and Lambda Legal—just to mention a few" (p.40). But, again, the activists would have us believe there's no such thing as a gay agenda!

Brown shows that many of these organizations have specific plans with targeted goals. These include creating visibility, increasing awareness and fostering community. To promote their agenda they utilize task forces, policy institutes, organizing and training programs and even an annual "Creating Change" conference (p.37).

Later Brown categorizes some of the movements. "There is a gay revolution, a gay liberation movement, a plethora of gay activist organizations with clearly identified missions and goals, but no gay agenda How can that be? . . .

"Ironically, when it comes to denying the existence of a gay agenda, there is 'immense unity' in the gay community. Why? It is because the denial of that agenda is part of the agenda . . . It must be a stealth agenda. Otherwise, its progress will be thwarted and its success greatly impeded, because the open, unambiguous, full disclosure of the goals and ramifications of the gay agenda would stop that agenda in its tracks" (pp. 42-43), emphasis added throughout).

HOW FAR HAVE THEY COME?

It's the view of many that the impact the gay agenda is having on society is a bellwether indicator of just how far society has morally degenerated and where it's ultimately headed.

The Los Angeles Times summarizes the growing impact in an article titled, "Gays May Have the Fastest of All Civil Rights Movements" (May 20, 2012)

The article notes that "attitudes toward gays and lesbians have changed so much in just the last 10 years that, as Gallup reported last week, 'half or more now agree that being gay is morally acceptable, that gay relations ought to be legal and that gay or lesbian couples should have the right to legally marry.'" (In 1996, when Gallup first asked about legalizing same-sex marriage, 68% of Americans were opposed).”

In about a generation we have seen society transformed from considering homosexuality to be a psychological disorder to the point that those who do not accept or affirm homosexuality are themselves called homophobic and viewed as mentally abnormal!

Homosexual behaviour, once considered morally wrong and outlawed in many countries and U.S. states, is now largely immune from public condemnation or even public criticism. And in some countries those who do criticize it face fines and/or imprisonment.

The term “tolerance” is now employed to mean complete acceptance of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) lifestyles and ideology—in the family, in the workplace, in education, in media and in religion. Those who do not accept this definition of “tolerance” are often labeled intolerant.

Today the term “diversity” means more than seeking women and minorities to join a company or organization. It often includes embracing homosexuality, LGBT behaviour and showing solidarity with the gay agenda

The gay agenda, along with the sexual revolution that began half a century ago, has transformed the moral standard that was once based on biblical values to one that accepts as commonplace the homosexual lifestyle and many other biblically condemned behaviours.

Ironically, while gay activists demand tolerance toward themselves, they are quick to slam anyone who dares to disagree with them as intolerant, biased, bigoted or homophobic. In demanding their “rights,” they not only demand that everyone else recognize their self-proclaimed rights, but they actually strip away the freedom and rights of those who disagree with them and who are standing up to their agenda (showing their own intolerance of others).

GROWING SUPPORT AT MANY LEVELS

This powerful political and cultural current is explosively impacting society. Due in part to the activists’ hype and that of the media, most Americans think the size of the homosexual community is seven or eight times larger than it actually is. The title of the most recent Gallup poll on the subject explains: “U.S. Adults Estimate That 25% of Americans Are Gay or Lesbian” (Gallup.com. May 27, 2011).

The actual number, confirmed by surveys going back several decades, is 2 to 4 percent—admitted even by researchers supportive of the gay-rights movement

In recent years the gay-rights movement has changed the target of its agenda. Thirty years ago gay activists made little effort to try to change the definition of marriage. But today this change is central to the gay agenda in most of the Western world.

And they have gained considerable political support. American President Barack Obama’s policies have consistently favoured the expansion of gay rights. On June 29, 2009, the 40th anniversary of what established gay pride month, Obama welcomed 300 gay activists to the White House, stating, “Welcome to your White House,” assuring them that their goals would be realized in his administration.

Another example is his pushing for the 2011 ending of restrictions on homosexuals serving openly in the U.S. military, a practice which had been in existence since the time of George Washington.

Last summer U.S. Defense Secretary Leon Panetta went so far as to give a thank you speech for homosexual, lesbian and bisexual military service members as part of the Pentagon’s first-ever celebrations of gay pride month.

Last spring Obama became the first sitting president to publicly declare support for the legalization of same sex marriage. This was followed by the Democratic Platform Committee unanimously endorsing it for the 2012 presidential elections—a first for a major party platform.

More than a year ago the Obama administration ordered the Justice Department to halt any legal defense for the federal Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA), which was passed by Congress in 1996 to preserve marriage as a union between one man and one woman.

Since DOMA passed, 42 states have instituted their own support-of-marriage acts, defining marriage as the union of one man and one woman. This helps ensure that children, the next generation of taxpayers, grow up in a stable family unit. So far, eight states have approved gay marriage by legislation or court-ordered action—though none by popular vote of citizens.

BIOLOGICAL DIFFERENCES

Why is there so much sound and fury coming from so many quarters demanding a change to the definition of marriage?

One reason is that the gay agenda has successfully changed the public focus away from the fundamental biological difference between same-sex couples and heterosexual partners. They may be able to fool some people some of the time, but they cannot fool God. There is simply no way to magically erase the inherent biological differences.

Think about it! If everyone took up the homosexual lifestyle, populations would begin to rapidly dwindle and the human race would eventually die out. It should be evident to everyone that, barring some artificial outside assistance, biological procreation is only possible in heterosexual relationships.

God designed marriage to provide a husband and wife the opportunity to raise their own biological children in a caring, balanced family environment conducive for developing their children’s personal identity (Gen. 1:28). God “seeks godly offspring” and hates anything that undermines or destroys marriage because of the harm that creates (Mal. 2:14-16). The inherent contradiction between what God designed marriage relationships to be and same-sex marriage cannot be changed by altering the definition of marriage or carefully couching arguments to make “alternative lifestyles” seem more acceptable.

HOW FAR WILL THEY GO?

It appears that those pushing the gay agenda won’t give up until the definition of marriage is changed in law and common language and their influence is felt in every aspect of society, as Brown documents:

“Children in elementary schools will be exposed to the rightness and complete normality of homosexuality, bisexuality, and transgender expression . . . Opposing views will be branded as dangerous and homophobic, to be silenced and excluded from the classroom. Middle schools, high schools, and colleges will go out of their way to encourage both the celebration of homosexuality and deep solidarity with gay activism” (p.49).

In addition, Brown believes that pressure will build for American businesses to openly embrace every aspect of these biblically immoral practices to the point that employees who resist or refuse to follow suit will be dismissed.

Pastors and religious groups teaching the biblical view that homosexual behaviour is immoral will increasingly find themselves being accused of “hate speech.” In some countries ministers have already been convicted and fined (and jailed) for simply teaching the biblical truths on the subject.

LASTING IMPRESSIONS ON OUR CHILDREN

When you realize where their agenda is headed, it’s extremely disconcerting to see gay activists targeting younger and younger children—the most impressionable among us. Schools have become bastions of homosexual and transgender activism beginning as early as kindergarten. (eventually, they will push for legislation of pedophilia).

Brown provides an example of the efforts of one homosexual advocacy organization over the past two decades: “This is the day of the ‘queering of elementary education’— to quote the title of a highly-praised book—and much of this is due to the influence of GLSEN, the Gay, Lesbian, and Straight Educational Network (pp.87-88).

“GLSEN wants homosexuality and transgenderism completely normalised—and even encouraged, celebrated, and nurtured—in the educational system . . . Gay-inspired curricula and gay-affirming educational programs are now everywhere today” (p.89).

In addition, GLSEN offers a comprehensive training program for teachers called GLSEN Lunchbox 2, which is designed for educators to use beginning at the kindergarten level. It comes with a training video, a 141-page trainer’s manual, game cards with gay or transgender historical figures and terminology cards designed to teach a variety of sexual lifestyle alternatives.

It offers activities designed to subvert the family, including one titled “Deconstructing Definitions of Family.” Brown summarizes “In short, say goodbye to male and female, to masculinity and femininity, to ‘biological sex,’ and say hello to gender-queer, gender-nonconforming, transgender, and trans-sexual” (p.95).

In the United States GLSEN also sponsors the rapidly growing Gay Straight Alliances (GSAs) in the middle schools, high school and college campuses. There are now more than 4,000 student clubs on campuses, and the number continues to grow rapidly.

These do far more than just provide a “safe place” for homosexual, bisexual; and transgender students to hang out. They have become a springboard for pro-homosexual advocacy. They seek to alter curriculum and silence dissent. They push for the full acceptance of homosexuality in schools. And they encourage children as young as 11 years old to declare themselves gay in GSA meetings, often without the knowledge of their parents.

CIVIL RIGHTS COVER-UP

All these blatantly aggressive efforts are a direct assault on the God-designed family unit. And they are cleverly hidden under the banner of “equal opportunity” or “civil rights.”

Activists even guide the media in how they want their agenda positioned. The GLAAD Media Reference Guide, quoted earlier, points out the terms they expect to be used or not used: “Offensive: ‘special rights.’ Preferred: ‘equal rights’ or ‘equal protection.’”

But is the real motive behind their agenda simply to gain the same rights as others? In most states gays already can gain most if not all the rights heterosexual marriage partners have by voluntarily entering into a private, informal domestic partnership agreement specifying their mutual obligations. And they can even hold private religious marriage ceremonies.

Likewise, nothing prohibits private companies from offering benefits to same-sex partners of their employees.

In fact, the majority of Fortune 500 companies already do.

A deeper question is: Does it make logical sense to form a special class of people based purely on sexual orientation and then equate it to a race or ethnic group’s push for civil rights? There are at least three reasons that the two are not a legitimate comparison.

First, homosexuals (of both sexes), bisexuals and the transgendered are not all united by having the same sexual attractions—each subgroup is different

Second, the black civil rights movement was united around those who had the same skin colour, which does not change. On the other hand, the LGBT community was artificially linked together based solely on sexual orientations, which can change over time.

Third, there is no moral difference between being black or white (or yellow or red). But romantic attractions and sexual behaviour often have moral (or immoral) qualities.

THE UNDERLYING MORAL ISSUES

Society places way too much emphasis on sex, and gay activists are trying to convince everyone that you can have it your way, their way or any way.

One of the critically destructive forces behind this gay agenda is the idea that everything is malleable to accommodate changes in society. But no matter what the changing vagaries of fickle public opinion, God’s principles of right and wrong do not change (see Malachi 3:6; Hebrews 13:8).

God set certain natural laws in motion at creation that were designed to govern and support humanity’s existence on earth. His Word tells us that sex was designed exclusively for only one relationship—that between a man and a woman in marriage. Because homosexual activity, premarital sex and adultery are all outside of marriage, all are violations of God’s instructions (God slew Onan for spilling his seed on the ground - withdrawal).

These sins exact negative penalties, whether a person understands God’s Laws or not. And unless they are repented of, the ultimate consequence is death (Romans 6:23).

The Bible contain specific passages condemning both male and female homosexual behaviour (Leviticus 18:22, 24-30, 1 Tim. 1:9). When it comes to sexual relations, the only two options affirmed for Christians are God-designed marriage or abstinence (no sexual relationships).

It can be a struggle for those who desire to leave the gay lifestyle. And like other human temptations, it may be a battle they fight all their lives. But God knows how to deliver the godly out of temptations (2 Peter 2:9). And it is encouraging to see there is clear biblical evidence that God can help change wrong behaviour—including homosexuality and sodomy, as some of the Corinthian church members were able to do (1 Cor. 6:9-11).

MARRIAGE CAN NOT BE REDEFINED

In law and society, marriage touches every aspect of life from birth to death. Since God is the Creator of man and marriage, only He has the right to define what the marriage relationship should be.

Human beings were created with a deep need to bond to others. And there is no deeper bonding relationship among human beings than the one that can be achieved between a husband and wife. Eve was created so that Adam would not have to live alone (Genesis 2:18). The two were directed to be fruitful and multiply through the only physical union capable of producing new life (Gen. 1:28).

The institution of this marital union was one of the very first actions God took to establish the basic structure of human society (Gen. 2:24; 4:6; Eph. 5:31). It is a natural union and a divine institution ordained of God. Like no other institution, it can provide material and emotional support as well as a sense of safety and love for as long as both husband and wife are alive (Romans 7:2).

Our loving Father gave us the institution of marriage and the blessing of family so that we might learn to love one another as He loves us (Eph. 5:25-33). Because of the importance of this divine institution, Jesus Christ stood up to those who wanted to adapt marriage to the changing whims of society and brought them back to God's original instructions regarding the sanctity of marriage (Mark 10:1-12).

Notice Jesus' instructions: "But from the beginning of the creation, God 'made them male and female.' 'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother ('s household and make a new household by being) joined to his wife, and the two shall be come one flesh;' so then they are no longer two, but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate" (vs 6-9). [same-sex can never claim to be 'joined by God'].

SIGN OF THE TIMES

What this all adds up to is that the gay agenda has become one of the greatest attempts at social re-engineering in history. The fight to uproot the definition of marriage to include same-sex partners is just one more social trend threatening to further undermine the very foundation of the family unit and the stability of society itself.

The sad reality is that our society is continuing headlong down the moral spiral prophesied for the end time before Jesus Christ's return (2 Tim. 3:1-7, 13). God's Word says the family will continue to be under assault as we approach the end of this age.

Perhaps not so coincidentally, Jesus compares the days leading up to His coming to the destruction of Sodom in Lot's day (Luke 17:28-30). Thanks in part to the gay agenda, our society is headed in the same direction. Nearly all the people of Sodom had turned away from God's way of life (I don't think they ever followed it) (Gen. 18:16-22).

There were not even ten righteous people to be found in the city (I think Abraham must have credited Lot with some growth to his family to ask about "if there be 10"). The men of the city threatened to sexually violate the two angelic messengers God sent to warn Lot to leave before He destroyed the city (Gen. 19:1-29; Jude 7).

While Lot and his family were in some ways negatively influenced by the evils of the society around them, he is called "righteous Lot" (2 Pet. 2:7). He felt tormented, oppressed and distressed by the immoral and degrading ways of those around him (verses 7-8).

We must remain vigilantly on guard against letting a morally degenerating society pull us down with it—as Jesus warned: "And because lawlessness will abound, the love of many will grow cold" (Matt 5. 24:12).

Thankfully, our loving and merciful Saviour will return to heal the hearts and minds of His people (Isa. 9:6-7). He will save them from complete depravity and self-destruction (Matt. 24:21-22). He will establish a healthy, wholesome and happy world. May God speed the day!

TAKE TIME TO PRAY

"I got up early one morning
And rushed right into the day;
I had so much to accomplish
That I didn't have time to pray.
Problems just tumbled about me,

And heavier came each task;
'Why doesn't God help me?' I wondered

He answered, 'You didn't ask.'

I wanted to see joy and beauty
But the day toiled on gray and bleak
I wondered why God didn't show me
He said, 'But you didn't seek.'
I tried to come into God's presence;
I used all my keys in the lock.
God gently and lovingly chided,
'My child, you didn't knock.'
I woke up early this morning,
And paused before entering the day;
I had so much to accomplish,
That I had to take time to pray."

Let this be a reminder to all of us that no matter how busy we become, life will go so much better if we just take time to pray as we start out each day. And show that it's not just words, by tithing—actions speak louder than words.

THE VIRTUE OF DELIBERATE CHRISTIANITY

by Andrea Schwartz

Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies." (Prov. 31:10)

"Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all." (Prov. 31:29).

When we speak of a virtuous woman, we often limit the meaning to sexual purity or the absence of sinful actions in her life. However, as R.J. Rushdoony points out, there is a much more positive connotation attached to the word "virtue:"

"The word 'virtue' comes from the Latin and meant originally "strength, courage, and excellence." In the Old and New Testaments, the words in Hebrew and Greek translated as "virtue" mean in the original languages "force, strength of mind or body, and power." The meaning of "power" as virtue is clear in Luke 6:19 and 8:46.

In Proverbs 31:10 and 29, the virtuous woman is a strong woman, strong in character and in her abilities. In Proverb 12:4 we read, "A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband: but she that maketh ashamed is as rottenness in his bones." Because a virtuous woman is morally and in every other way strong and capable, she adds so greatly to her husband's calling that she enables him to be a ruler or king in his realm, whereas a morally weak and incompetent wife is a source of shame and weakness, "as rottenness in his bones." A husband lacking virtue is fully as disastrous as his wife, if not more so.

Virtue thus in its Biblical meaning is strength, moral strength, the wise use of abilities, and a general competence."¹

The virtuous woman of Proverbs 31 can best be described as deliberate in her actions and duties. Her decisions and undertakings are purposefully in line with her calling, resulting in such a well-run family that her husband's ability to carry out his dominion role is enhanced. Additionally, as her children mature, they praise their mother for her investment in them because they see the fruits of her efforts in their lives.

How does a young girl arrive at the place in life with the ability to step into the shoes of the immense calling described in this last chapter of Proverbs? Rushdoony points out that this comes through training from a very early age.

"A boy or girl reared without the discipline of work, self-government, and moral force thus lack virtue in the Biblical sense . . .

Virtue is the strong and positive faithfulness to every Word of God, and a courageous stand for the Lord in every area of life and thought. Virtue in the Bible means power. Today, as always, true virtue is God's power at work in this world through men."²

Thus, it is the duty of every family to establish a deliberate Christianity as the norm for the household. The mother's day-to-day interaction with her children is especially important in this pursuit. The goal is to advance a mindset of keeping the Law-word of God and functioning within its guidelines as the way we demonstrate our love for Jesus.

DELIBERATE

Webster's 1828 Dictionary defines the adjective deliberate:

"1. Weighing facts and arguments with a view to a choice or decision; carefully considering the probable consequences of a step; circumspect; slow in determining; applies to persons; as a deliberate judge or counselor.

2. Formed with deliberation; well advised or considered; not sudden or rash; as a deliberate opinion; a deliberate measure, or result."

From a very early age, children must be taught the standard of behaviour that conforms to the commandments of God. Only with this standard can infractions and disobediences be properly understood and dealt with. Children need to comprehend that every sin is an offense against God, whether or not there has been damage done to another person. With grace, young ones will grow and mature in obedience knowing that they will be held accountable for their actions (Eccl. 12:13-14).

Proverbs 3:5-6 tells us to "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths." All things that we think, do, or say must be analyzed by the Word of God looking to Jesus as the embodiment of that Word in the flesh. That is a tall order. It involves a number of things:

1. Knowing the Word sufficiently to "weigh" one's thoughts, words, and actions to determine if they are in conformity to God's standards.

2. Understanding the application(s) in day-to-day life.

3. Having the conviction to remain within the parameters the Bible prescribes.

The Bible makes clear in numerous places that we accomplish this by being straightforward and deliberate in our witness of our new life in Jesus.

Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. (Matt. 5:14-16).

He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad. (Matt. 12:30).

STRAIGHTFORWARD vs SUBTLE

Because the Great Commission given by Jesus before His ascension is a mandate rather than a suggestion, impacting the culture for Jesus is not an optional activity for the Christian. In a time when Christianity is derided and belittled, many believers decide the best way to "win" people to Jesus is by subtlety. Their concern is that being direct with people will "turn them off" and they, all too often, are so subtle that their intended audience misses their point entirely.

If we look at the early church and its confrontations with the culture of its day, we note that subtlety was not the preferred weapon used to combat the prevailing pagan ideology. In fact, we see disciples being beaten, jailed, and killed because of their out-in-the-open, unswerving adherence to Jesus as King of kings and Lord of lords and His Law-word.

In contrast to much of what passes as Christianity in our day, a study of the saints in Foxe's Book of Martyrs (#310 @ $4.10) shows that they were deliberate in aligning themselves with the Saviour and lost their lives as a result. The virtue (power) of their stance may have cost them their lives, but it encouraged greater numbers to see their light and become followers of Jesus.³

In America, if we are deliberate in proclaiming the need for repentance and Jesus as the solution to our guilt and sin, we may avoid being beaten, or fired, or jailed for our identification as Christians. But this is not true for other parts of the world.. In many parts of the world, deliberate Christianity is a challenge to those who rail at Jesus, and believers pay a huge price. However, like Christians through the centuries, they consider their sufferings small compared to the sufferings of Jesus who redeemed them and restored them to fellowship with the Father. Sometime in America, we may face the same persecution for our deliberate Christianity. Many believe that if they model Christianity rather than explicitly share it ("Preach the Gospel. Use words if necessary."), they will win souls. St. Paul appears to disagree.

13. For “everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.” How then will they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in him of whom they have never heard? And how are they to hear without someone preaching? And how are they to preach unless they are sent? As it is written, “How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the good news!” But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, “Lord, who has believed what he has heard from us?” So faith comes from hearing, and hearing through the word of God. But I say, Have they not heard? Yea, verily, their sound went into all the earth, and their words unto the ends of the world. But I say, Did not Israel know?” (Rom. 10:13-19)

A deliberate Christian education is a MUST for any professing/confessing family because allowing anti-Christian worldviews and practices to be presented to children as fact produces a schizophrenic/conflicted mindset. When the Bible’s absolutes are challenged without resistance on a daily basis, is it any wonder that so many children from Christian homes abandon the faith after graduating from statist schools, or when they start work? The absence of a deliberate Christianity permits the humanistic/materialistic/secularist world-view to win the day.

GETTING INTO SHAPE

When my children were younger and I coached them in preparation for a performance, whether it was a piano recital, a speech, or a drama, I emphasized that all their actions and words should be delivered in a deliberate fashion. I stressed that in order to convey to an audience that they were confident in what they were communicating, it was necessary to be aware of everything that they were doing. I had many examples to point to. Among them were world-class gymnasts and figure skaters. It was always easy to see those who were coached very well and had embraced the particulars of their sport. If you’ve ever seen stop-action photography of these athletes, you can see that they are being deliberate right down to the tips of their fingers and toes. No movement is unpracticed or unrehearsed, and the smoother and more effortless it looks, the more time and effort were put in to achieving it. No gymnast or skater accidentally delivers an excellent performance.

Why don’t believers put the same emphasis on deliberate Christianity? The command to be ready always to give a reason for the hope that is within us is a directive to demonstrate in our thinking, conversation, and actions that what we do is predicated in living our life according to God’s Law-word.

When do you instill a purposeful Christianity? First of all, you can’t instill something you don’t possess. The first step is to make this a priority in your own life. Do your children witness you making your decisions in a deliberately Biblical way? Do you consider any decision beyond the scope of Scripture? The young ones who look to you for guidance should be able to conclude that you live in accordance with the declarative statement,

All Scripture is breathed out by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work. (2 Tim. 3:16-17).

I believe many sincere Christians hold back on giving testimony to their faith because they are concerned they will do a poor job of giving a Biblical answer to questions that may be raised. Being ready to give an answer for the hope that is within (a command rather than a suggestion) will follow from living out a deliberate Christianity. Being salt and light are by-products of a deliberate Christianity. As a result, providing an explanation should be as natural as reciting our residence address, phone number, or email address. We are ready with an answer because we have done what we’ve done intentionally.

PASSING THE TORCH

How can parents teach their children purposeful Christianity? Initially it comes by way of example. Children should regularly witness their parents making lifestyle choices (where to live, how to educate, where to work, where to worship, where to shop) based on conformity to God’s Word. God’s Word does not always mandate the details, but provides the guidelines and parameters for our decisions.

I recall an incident that involved one of our pets. Our English Springer Spaniel had been attacked by another dog and almost lost his life. Although he recovered from his injury after surgery for a punctured lung, our dog was never the same. We were no longer able to take him out to run on an adjacent field or for walks in the neighbourhood; he was skittish of other animals and would respond aggressively. We had to keep him away from visitors because he would often growl. Eventually he became unpredictable even around my children. One evening my daughter dropped a paper towel and the dog began to eat it. She reached down to get it from him. The dog growled, lunged at her and made an effort to bite her. Although he didn’t succeed, I became convinced that it was no longer appropriate to have this animal as a pet.

My husband and I went to the Scriptures to determine our course of action. We know that the dog had serious issues and felt it would be dishonest to give the dog to another family or even the pound for adoption. We knew that providentially we had avoided a trip to the emergency room for our daughter. We went to God’s Word for guidance.

“When an ox gores a man or a woman to death, the ox shall be stoned, and its flesh shall not be eaten, but the owner of the ox shall not be liable. But if the ox has been accustomed to gore in the past, and its owner has been warned but has not kept it in, and it kills a man or a woman, the ox shall be stoned, and its owner also shall be put to death.” (Ex. 21:28-29).

Because we had both been students of Rushdoony’s Institutes of Biblical Law, we also knew to look at his chapter on The Sixth Commandment for instruction. In the section “Restitution or Restoration,” he discusses injuries to persons by animals.

If an animal owned by a man were guilty of the injury; if the animal had no previous record of violence to man, then the animal died (and of course the injured person was cared for and compensated). But if the animal had a previous record of violence, the owner now became liable to the death penalty for murder. (Ex. 21:28-29).⁴

It became a clear-cut decision that we needed to put the dog down, that we couldn’t risk another incident. Having a Biblical Law that said I would be liable for the death penalty got my attention. However, I had children who loved this dog, and my daughter was convinced this was all her fault. I knew I needed to explain that God’s Law required me to act and that sentimentality, emotion, and our love for the animal were not good reasons to violate it.

The next day, my daughter and I brought the dog to the pound and remained with him throughout the procedure until it was completed. For days, amidst the tears and sorrow over losing an animal that we had loved for eight years, we discussed the wisdom of God's Law and the need to follow it even when it hurts.

POWER IN OUR TESTIMONY

The very purpose of being ambassadors for the Lord Jesus Christ in our everyday lives is to manifest His grace as we follow His law. We don't want to be guilty of having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof (2 Tim. 3:5), since St. Paul warns us to turn away from such people. God's claims are total and we should abandon the practice of being "subtle" in carrying out the Great Commission.⁵ Rather we should be deliberate as we inject commentary, opinions, decisions, and ideas with the highest priority being that are we being faithful. As Rushdoony points out,

Our God makes a total claim on our lives, and on our money, too; He requires that our children be given to Him also. How do we respond to Him? Are we rich toward ourselves and poor towards God? Do we have time for everything except His Word? Do we want Him only when we need Him?

If we do not have the power of God in our lives, it is because we are denying it; it may well be that we do not want God to interfere too much with our life-style. The mere "form of godliness" will get us no further with the Lord than an imitation airline ticket will get us a flight.

Serve the Lord with all your heart, mind, and being with your life, your money, and your family. Go for the power!⁶ --

REFORMERS' WISDOM APPLIED TO TRANSGENDER DEBATE

by David Roach

Nashville (BP) -- Amid contemporary discussion of transgenderism, the 500th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation has helped resurface historic wisdom on gender and sexuality. While predating by centuries the modern phenomenon of transgenderism, Martin Luther and John Calvin were among Reformers to denounce those who attempted to blur the distinction between men and women — an error dating back to the ancient world.

Union University ethicist C. Ben Mitchell told Baptist Press Luther's 1522 sermon "The Estate of Marriage" "reads like it could have been preached last Sunday. Would that it was.

Some aspects of Luther's sermon likely would not be embraced by 21st-century believers — like his view government should execute adulterers, and his counsel that women should be married at age 15 to 18 and men by 20. Still, many of his foundational principles were timeless.

"Although it might be considered anachronistic to apply Luther's 16th-century sermon to today's discussion of transgenderism, the implications are straightforward and clear," Mitchell, Graves Professor of Moral Philosophy at Union, said in written comments. "Luther believed that homosexuality was a perversion of the Creator's purpose for his embodied human creatures. This would apply no less to transgenderism than to homosexuality."

Based on Genesis 1:27, Luther argued gender was binary and a gift from God.

"From this passage we may be assured that God divided mankind into two classes, namely male and female, or a he and a she," Luther said. "This was so pleasing to Him that He Himself called it a good creation.

"Therefore, each one of us must have the kind of body God has created for us. I cannot make myself a woman, nor can you make yourself a man, we do not have that power. But we are exactly as He created us ... Moreover, He wills to have His excellent handiwork honored as His divine creation, and not despised," Luther said.

Like gender, sexual relations between a husband and wife are "a divine ordinance which it is not our prerogative to hinder or ignore," Luther said.

"Just as God does not command anyone to be a man or a woman but creates them the way they have to be, so does not command them to multiply (??) but creates them so that they have to multiply."

Luther acknowledged some people are physically unable to have children and that some are called by God to singleness and accompanying celibacy, but he claimed the inclination toward marriage between one man and one woman "is a matter of nature and not of choice."

Calvin in a sermon on 1 Timothy 2:9-11, lamented those who "turn(ed) the order of nature upside down" by

down-playing the distinction between men and women

"Women are nowadays more out of order than ever they were," Calvin said. "Especially if a person goes to these great courts hardly shall he be able to find any difference between men and women. Indeed men for their part do also abuse themselves in this behalf. For they clothe themselves in women's apparel and women in men's, so that there is a horrible confusion among them, as if the world had conspired to turn the order of nature upside down."

Calvin and Luther both encouraged believers to use their bodies according to God's design and to trust that doing so pleased the Lord. Calvin had little patience with "fine dames who want to be exempt from" motherhood for selfish reasons but commended "faithful women who do their duty when they are mothers, knowing what God has made them subject to, and take it patiently."

Luther also commended fathers who live out their God-ordained gender roles by providing for their families and helping to care for the children. Such fathers should pray, said Luther, "O God, because I am certain that Thou hast created me as a man and hast from my body begotten these children, I know for a certainty that [the work of being a husband and father] meets with Thy perfect pleasure."

Mitchell noted that "Luther's vivid and earthy theology of the body is truly remarkable."

ALIEN AND TRUTH

by Adam de Witt

Greetings everyone! Please do not fall for Freemason (David) Icke (and others like him who go on about aliens from outer-space).

He earns over $2,000,000 a year in book sales and pentecostal-cult-style talks. He is an ex-sports commentator, i.e. raised in the media of the system, he claimed he was Jesus (no kidding) and he has been caught-out making all his tales up.

Look folks, if he is into truth, why then does he not tell the most-in-your-face truth ... that Saksons are Israelites and that Jews are Ashkenaz-Edomite Identity Thieves? Why does he never say that the state of Israel is not true Israel, but a scam state? Why does he not say that every war is not fought over oil but to make the world a safer place for the Identity Thieves? Why does he NEVER EVER teach that???! I tell you why ... The bloke is a clown, pure and simple!

Now start to think folks . . . If Jesus is the son of God (and NOT Icke) and Saksons are the body of Jesus . . . then which creatures within the whole of the universe can possibly be smarter than Saksons?

Think about it folks! God is the most intelligent being of the universe, right? Are you still with me? Then His Son must be the next in line of the most intelligent of all creatures — are you still with me? Okay. Then Jesus died for his kin, He is the Kinsman Redeemer — are you all with me still?

That means that His kinsfolk are next in line for uppermost in intelligence in the whole universe, right? We are His kin. That makes us as a species, us the Saksons, the Isaac-sons, the Israelites, the Adamites, third in line of the most intelligent of all species in the universe—it's that simple. Even a child can work it out. It's not rocket science.

That leaves no room for any other species on earth or outside earth to be more intelligent than us. Now, keep thinking folks .. Then the next in line of intelligence are the Mongoloids, then the Negroids. The Mongoloids (Chinese, Japanese, and such like) have never invented a single thing ...ever! and the Negroid even more never than never if that can be done.

The only thing the Chinese have any claim to is paper, the waterwheel, and movable type—and even these three things (which they have never been able to better) they have gained because our related kin, the Proto-Kelts lived right up to where is now the Great Wall of China and taught the Mongoloids these things.

The Negroid—well the only things they ever invented were more interesting ways to kill their foes, especially how to kill Saksons (since 1994 in South Africa, 70,000 whites have been brutally murdered and killed)

That all-up means that the Mongoloids and Negroids are 4th and 5th in line for intelligent creative ability. They are just under us. The Mongoloid has a brain capacity in size proportional to body mass as we have, but not with inventive ability. The Negroid brain is far smaller in ratio and with less brain folds, so less ability.

That means, that should there be any creature on another planet, it will always be less in intelligence than us. At the very best on equal footing to a Mongoloid. Seeing that none of us have been to any planet where they may be, then they have never been able to gain our skills. So they would never have made a flying thing of sorts, other than a spear, or boomerang. So they have a fat chance of flying to earth and taking over our governments and ruling us.

The whole basis for creatures from outer space, is based on evolutionary thinking, and not based on Creation or the Bible. It's just another hoax from Hollywood, just like the moon landing, they can almost make you believe anything.

The only aliens on this planet are those who are 'not-our-folk' living in OUR Sakson lands—still with me? Icke is a nit-wit but a savvy businessman and a Freemason, thus a whore to a certain type of those who-are-not-our-folk aliens of earthling, Identity Thieves.

When sheep wake up, they realize that being eaten by wolves is not such a good idea. They begin to shun wolves. Wolves get locked out and begin to starve and die ... not nice for wolves, but nice for sheep.

Stop listening to the wolf howl (establishment media), but listen only to the Lamb of God.

A READER COMMENTS

Well, that will end the U.S. Military, then the country. That is what these perverts want anyway who support these policies. Perhaps, though, decent nations like Russia and central Europe will benefit and preserve Christian values as America declines. This is the end of the U.S. when these policies are fully in place as they will filter down into our entire society destroying this country quickly over time. If we, the decent people, do not have the will to stop the perverts then I am sure God in heaven would say, “You get what you deserve.” Problem is, there are still lots of good people in the U.S. who oppose such sodomite behaviour but who have no power in the American Military/Industrial/Police State. Nor can these millions of good people move to Russia which is a “defender of the faith” in a traditional Christian sense of the term.

The normal, mentally healthy people of America are at the edge of a cliff over which edge they are about to be pushed by sodomites and those who support these deviants. Will we muster the courage to resist and push back? Or will we be pushed over the edge? Normal Americans will answer that question soon. Their answer will decide the fate of their families and nation. May God help us to what we must do to reclaim this country from the evil that has overtaken it. — LB

Jesus said: REPENT OR PERISH! (Luke 13:1-5).

May grace, mercy and peace be multiplied to you through Jesus our Lord. I am still having some bad (heart) days that last about 6 hours around once a week. (Psalm 31:15). Thank you again for those who continue to support us, especially in view of declining numbers. You are much appreciated.
