"THREE UNCLEAN SPIRITS LIKE FROGS" by Ps. Don Elmore

"And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet." Rev. 16:13.

Do you think that our LORD is angry at His people? We are living in very dangerous times. The world has been turned upside-down. What used to be against the law, is now politically correct. Every person is learning that what used to be "free speech" is no longer. A citizen is not allowed to criticize certain people who are pulling the strings or who are the people who are having their strings pulled. If they do, they either lose their jobs and livelihood, or they are killed!

We are awaiting the fall of the controlling power of Mystery Babylon. The United States, ever since the Federal Reserve Act, but even sooner in some of the other Christian Israel Nations, has indeed been handed over to the beast. With all the people of the earth being deceived by the unclean spirits emanating from the mouth of the Beast and from the mouth of the False Prophet, while under the economic control of the Jew. Almost the entire book of Revelation has already occurred. All we are awaiting is the fall of Babylon and the return of our Saviour.

Before I learned anything about Christian Identity, I spent time reading my Bible. Each week I would read the book of Daniel. I knew that this book was the first part of Revelation. Revelation could be called, Daniel part 2. But I got stuck on Daniel's 70th week. So, if I didn't know what Daniel's 70th week was, then I couldn't know what Revelation was talking about either. So I ignored Revelation. Until now. It took me that long (50 years) to find the truth of the book of Daniel and his "vision" about future events! God finally opened my eyes to His truth.

The book of Revelation has been a book that has been misinterpreted by thousands of Biblical scholars, especially in the last 200 years. Why? A person must know history! If you don't know the history of our people, you are left out of much of Revelation. That was my problem. I didn't know enough of our own people's history.

For example, in the book of Revelation:

Chapters 6-8, is prophecy of both the fall of Rome and the rise of Justinian. I didn't even know who Justinian was.

Chapter 9, is the conquest of Islam.

Chapters 10-11, is the period known as the Reformation, and the independence of the Saxon peoples from the oppression of the Romish church.

Did you know that we have gone from a time when the Jews were excluded from our civilization to where they now rule over us? When Christianity became the official religion of the Roman Empire, laws were passed against the Jews in the 4th and 5th centuries, which excluded the Jew from Christian society. It became unlawful for Jews:

- To hold any public office or military position,
- To hold Christian slaves, if they were caught the penalty was execution; or
- To loan money to Christians at usury.

Sounds like Nazi Germany. So, many of the Jews left the territory of the Empire, as they migrated into Khazaria, Arabia, and elsewhere.

Later in history, in Medieval Europe, those Jews who remained were forced to live in separate communities. But within those communities they could have their own Talmudic laws. They existed in Europe as chattel property of the nobles, for the profit of the nobles. This is when it was fulfilled, as found in Revelation 3:9, that those who claim to be Judaeans are not, Christ "... shall make them that shall come and they shall worship before your feet," as the Jews were forced to do for a thousand years before Christian nobles throughout Europe.

For a thousand years—for better or for worse—Christianity prevailed in Europe and Christian governance, albeit in name only, was the general way of life. Mystery Babylon, the eighth beast, is therefore shown to be one and the same as this Satan who is released from prison. This has already happened and it is the very reason why all the nations of the world are deceived and under the control of the international Jew today!

[satan - the adversaries - was in jail for 1000 years and then released. He was not changed at all. This proves that you cannot change certain individual's DNA by being in prison. Their job is now to gather the heathen nations to fight the final battle against God's covenant people.]

The 1000 years of imprisonment ended with the de'Medici popes and the acceptance of usury by Christendom, and culminated when the Jew was finally emancipated in Europe, at the time of the French Revolution and Napoleon Bonaparte. 'Satan' had been locked away for a thousand years. From around 800 AD to 1800 AD, was the period when the serpent was locked in the pit. When he was released, he began the process of gathering the countries for war against God's covenant people.

During the thousand years that he was locked up, the Jews were kept apart from Christians. Now with his emancipation he was free to go out and deceive the nation with his cries for liberty, equality, and fraternity, which today have all the world's goat nations threatening the very existence of the White Christian race.

[A lot of the material for this article was gleaned from the book, Christreich, which was written by William Finck; The Present Reign of Jesus Christ, by Robert Caringola; and Revelation, by Charles Jennings].

With the French Revolution and the age of Napoleon, the old feudal order had ceased to operate. The end of the ecclesiastical control over the morals and behaviour of the people, a power which was often abused under the Roman Catholic Church system anyway, had also ceased. So, with the end of these two major controls, what did the people do?

The people would now generally be left to their own devices, under the guise of the so-called free and modern society. Yet with the introduction of mass-produced Bibles into the average home, the common Israelite was also given a choice:

- To follow the Word of God, or
- To succumb to the devices of other gods of the other non-Israelites.

When "satan was let out of the pit," his people (the Jews) became emancipated in Europe. The Jews were now equal in European society, and with this new-found status, they began to promote all sorts of vice and corruption. It was nothing more than a more modern version of the Canaanite idols their ancestors had once used to lure the children of Israel into sin.

Furthermore, free enterprise became endangered and was succumbed to an entirely usury-based economy, organised under capitalism and orchestrated by the Jewish banking families of Europe, notably the Rothschilds. Under a usury-based capitalist economy, the enemies of Christ would gain more and more power and influence, enabling them to finance ever-stronger attacks against Christendom, and from within rather than from without.

To repeat, the day would come when our God would sow the house of Judah and the house of Israel with the seed of man and the seed of the beast. And that day began when the Jew was emancipated and allowed into the community of the European nations as citizens equal to Christians. "Satan" was loosed from the pit, or the ghettos of Europe, in order that he (they) may deceive the entire world. The Jew had been contained for a thousand years, expelled from Christian society and now he was let in.

In Revelation chapter 13, it was the dragon which gave his power to the beast. The dragon is also identified with Satan in Revelation chapter 12. For many centuries the Jew remained in the background, as court physician or private banker or in some other capacity, attempting to compromise the nobility of Europe and often succeeding. Through the usurpation of organizations such as the Jesuits and Masonry, the Illuminati, and the Jacobins, now the Jew could overthrow and supplant the nobility of Europe, which began with the French Revolution.

The capitalist system requires usury, considered to be a great evil by our LORD God. So dangerous, that our God declared that anyone who lent at usury to his racial brother was guilty of stealing and should be executed. The Capitalist system has brought with it international commerce, with its globalism, multiculturalism, racial diversity and all of the other devices of the Jew used to weaken Christendom and flood the Christian nations with godless individuals.

These ideas, along with the idea of a society without God, were first broadcast and promoted throughout the Christian world beginning with the French Revolution. The result is the modernist and mixed-race society in which we live today. Worship of the beast, and the taking of the mark of the beast, is therefore the worship of the system of man brought upon the Christian world by the enemies of God. Unlike the mark of the beast placed upon man during the period of the papacy, this time it is voluntary, and man takes it upon himself. Christians are told to despise the world, and today most of them fully embrace the world, even believing that to be Christian.

The spiritual life in the Christian nations became dead. The people began to worship the beast, the aspirations of Christianity were replaced with the Jewish ideals of consumerism and humanism. Then we had all the wars stemming from humanism and the Jewish influence over Christian society.

Humanism has replaced God because God was considered to be unfair. No longer do the governments of the world act as Christian governments. Because Christians as a people worshipped the beast, their kingdom has been handed over to the beast.

Remember the trial of Job. The adversary challenged the LORD God, that if Job were to be touched by adversity, he would curse HIM. The LORD God therefore allowed Job to be denuded of all which he had, and Job suffered greatly, but he never cursed God. In the end Job was rewarded many times over. This should continue to serve as our model today, whenever we are tried or suffer damage from this beast system.

The industrialization of Asia which began in the 19th century prepared the way for the kings of the east to gain power over Christendom. Today, with the industrialization of China and Japan and the other Asian states, they hold a great amount of power and influence over Christendom. They have also become militarized at the expense of Christendom. These peoples of Asia would never have been able to rise to the level where they could be any plausible threat against Christendom if it were not for internationalist capitalism, for the Jew knows no boundaries and has no allegiances to any other people. It is only natural that eventually the parasite should destroy the host.

“And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. For they are the spirits of devils [demons], working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of the great day of God Almighty.” Rev. 16:13-14.

What are these three unclean spirits like frogs that came out of the mouth of the:

1. Dragon,
2. Beast, and
3. False prophet.

The term “frog” has been used to describe a Frenchman for the last 200 years. This may be an indication as to the nature of the unclean spirits which emanate from the mouth of the false prophet. Could these spirits of demons come from the French?

Who are we fighting against anyway? Is it flesh and blood? Or is it evil spirits? Who is our enemy? We are fighting against principalities and powers.

A lot of argument, rational or emotional, can be made concerning which “isms” or which philosophies these three unclean frogs represent. However, all the philosophies promoted and forced into our Christian society by our enemies can be summarized in and have been cloaked by the supposed ideals of the French Revolution.

—FRENCH COIN—

20-franc piece, 1851, with the French national motto around the circumference

They are found in the slogan, LIBERTÉ, ÉGALITÉ, FRATERNITÉ, which is still the national motto of France today. Through these ideas have gone out all the Jewish ideas into the world, the ideas of liberty and freedom and equality and brotherhood which are contrary to the covenant relationship which Christians have with their God.

The Jewish ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity are ideals which led to the decline of Christian society into a cesspool of human licentiousness. All the cries for diversity, and every other philosophy detrimental to sound Christian society which has been made these past 200 years have been based upon these Jewish ideals, and Jews have been their chief instigators and promoters.

LIBERTY:

Christians are not supposed to be free. They are servants of Jesus the Christ. They are to follow the laws of their God. But they are not supposed to be in financial bondage, either. God’s Law tells us that the “... borrower is servant to the lender.” Christian Israelites are to be free of all usury loans.

EQUALITY:

Christians do not have equality. Wives and children are supposed to be subject to their husbands and fathers, and each Israelite has an unequal portion in the diverse gifts of God. Women are given away at a wedding ceremony by their father to their new husband because they are leaving the care and protection of their father which is now given to the husband. Israelite women are always to be under the care and protection of either their father or husband, or if both are dead, their brother or next of kin.

Did you notice how this was omitted in the recent (inter-racial) marriage of Prince Harry with his bride Meghan Markel? Meghan’s father did not walk her down the aisle. He didn’t even show up at the so-called wedding. Harry’s father walked her down the aisle, but did not give her to his son.

God calls some Israelites to be kings, some judges, some farmers, some cabinet makers, etc. All are not equal.

FRATERNITY:

Christians are supposed to have brotherhood only with those of their kin who are Christians, and to have no community or fellowship whatsoever with non-Christians. The evil spirits of the world (who are now also in most churches) teach just the opposite, that all races are brothers.

God has a hierarchy. A hierarchy in Israel and a hierarchy among the different races of the world. A hierarchy is not hate, but a form of government.

In the Cincinnati Enquirer newspaper, they did a series of articles about Race, Racism and Religion. In the June 3, 2018 issue, they wrote: The Bible addresses racism and diversity many times. Examples:

• In Genesis, all people are created in God’s image.”

Genesis 1:27 “So, God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him, male and female created He them.”

[but does this explain what happens in Genesis 3:15?] Genesis 3:15:

“And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.”

There are two seedlines running all the way through the Bible; they were never to intermarry. The seedline of the woman and the seedline of the serpent begin right here. Jesus the Christ was to be born from the seedline of the woman; the Pharisees came from the seedline of the serpent. How could both be created in God’s image?

God had even informed His people that He separated them from all other peoples, even as He separated clean animals from unclean animals. Clean animals are not related to unclean animals; they have no “common ancestor.”

“Ye shall therefore put difference between clean beast and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean: and ye shall not make your souls abominable by beast, or by fowl, or by any manner of living thing that creepeth on the ground, which I have separated from you as unclean. And ye shall be holy unto Me: for I the LORD am holy, and have severed you from other people, that ye should be Mine.” Lev. 20:25-26.

["For by one Spirit are we all baptised into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have all been made to drink into one Spirit." 1 Cor. 12:13.

Do the Jews and Gentiles describe all the people in the world? NO! They do not include the Incas, the Zulus, the Canaanites, the New Guinea natives, the Aborigines, the Eskimos, etc. The epistle was written to the church that was at Corinth. The Jews refer to those who are descended from the southern kingdom of Israel and the Gentiles refer to those who are descended from the northern kingdom.]

• "In Revelation, the heavenly picture is a great multitude from each nation and all tribes speaking every language before the throne."

["After this I beheld, and lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands; And cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb." Rev. 7:9-10

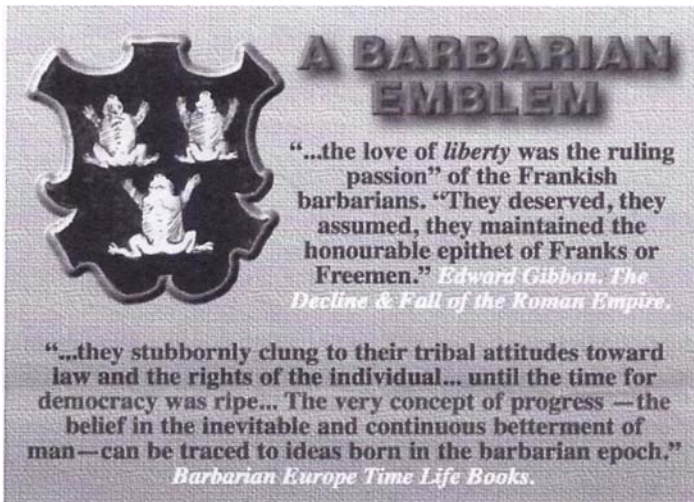

The "great multitude" and "all nations" doesn't refer to all the people of the world as the Cincinnati Enquirer wants us to believe. It doesn't refer to the Chinese, the Arab, the Canaanite, the Brazilian, the Hottentots, etc. because it refers to that part of the world which Rome rules over and which has undergone this tribulation. The "great multitude" and "all nations" refer to people who are descendants only of the ancient Israelites.

The Cincinnati Enquirer only gave the title of each book, it didn't give the chapter and verse. I wonder why? Chapter 7 of the book of Revelation deals with the 144,000. Who are they? 12,000 of each of the twelve tribes of Israel ... not all the people of the world!]

The United States Changed Its Form of Government

The slogan of the French Revolution advocates anti-Christian attributes. This slogan of the Revolution paved the way for democracy to become the common form of government of much of the world. Look at this emblem that has the three frogs saying the things that produced the rights of the individual—also produced democracy:

"The devil began his powerful deceit by sending three of his most powerful demons to the countries of the earth. God represented these demons to John as frogs because frogs catch their prey with their tongues. These lying demons will perform a series of impressive miracles before each country's leader by saying: 'Join with Lucifer and his mighty angels because Jesus Christ will soon appear. Working together we can destroy Jesus, so gather up your armies and weapons and be prepared for the final battle, the battle of Armageddon. Otherwise, He will kill you and your armies will surely perish.'"

With the Napoleonic Wars that came to an end in the early 1800s, the Catholics were humiliated, the Jews were emancipated and 'Satan' was loosed out of the pit. Times were changing at a fast pace. When the battle was fought at Waterloo, the agents of Rothschild informed their bosses that Napoleon was defeated. The Rothschilds, however devised a deceiving plan. Before the word spread of his defeat, the Rothschilds planted the seed that he was victorious. They began selling their stocks and bonds on the London Stock Exchange. This caused the markets to fall drastically when the host of other traders began selling too. Near the end of the day, the Rothschilds secretly began to buy all the stock and bonds, "pennies on the dollar." When the truth of Napoleon's defeat arrived the next morning, the stocks and bonds all rose back to their original prices as the morning before and then increased more. The Rothschilds gained control of the Stock Exchange and the plan of a world-wide rule was beginning to unfold.

Look at what began to happen in the Israelite nations. Have you ever wondered how all this came to place and why and how? Now I know the answer. How did Mormonism grow exponentially, and the rapture belief, which was unheard of, to become one of the most sacred of all beliefs? This all occurred shortly after 'satan' was freed from the pit. Within the first couple of decades after the 'dragon's' release, the years 1820 and 1830 have two different visions of "God" that was seen by two different teenagers, on two different continents, by two different genders.

1. Joseph Smith, of the United States of America, was a fourteen-year-old boy, and the founder of Mormonism, wrote that in the spring of 1820, there was a significant revival in his New York neighbourhood. He recalled that:

"Some were contending for the Methodist faith, some the Presbyterian, and some for the Baptist."

Joseph Smith further states that "his mother, two brothers and his sister joined the Presbyterian Church. After reading the Bible, Smith went out into the woods to pray about which church he should join.

In answer to this prayer God the Father and Jesus Christ appeared to him as two separate beings"

Both "separate beings" told him not to join any of the Christian churches that he had asked about:

"... for they were all wrong and the Personage who addressed me said that all their creeds were an abomination in his sight; that those professors were all corrupt," Pearl of Great Price, Joseph Smith-History 1:5-19, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Joseph later stated that he was persecuted for telling others about his vision. Mormonism is a restoration religion. Joseph Smith was to restore Christianity, since there were no true churches left any place on the earth.

Now, who were these "two separate entities" that answered Joseph Smith's questions. They were either:

1. God the Father and His Son, Jesus the Christ, or
2. They were evil spirit visions of 'satan', demons.

2. Margaret MacDonald, who lived in Scotland, was a 15-year-old girl who fell into a "trance" during one of Edward Irving's sessions in 1830. After several hours of "vision" and "prophesying" she revealed that "Christ's" return would occur in two phases, not just one. "Christ" would first come visibly to only the righteous, then He would come a second time to execute wrath on the unrighteous in the nations.

This "secret rapture" was promoted by Irving claiming he, too, had heard a "voice" from heaven commanding him to teach it. Edward Irving was greatly influenced by MacDonald's vision and it gave him great hope that he was teaching this new truth, since it had not been taught:

- By the early Church
- By the Church of the first centuries

- By the Reformers,
- By anyone (except a couple of Roman Catholic theologians) until about the year 1830.

Who was the entity that made the "vision" and the "voice" that both Margaret MacDonald and Edward Irving heard? Was it either:

1. The voice of our LORD God, or
2. The voice of 'satanic' demons?

3. About 1830 a new school arose within the fold of Premillennialism that sought to overthrow what, since the Apostolic Age, had been considered by all premillennialists as established results, and to institute in their place a series of doctrines that had never been heard before. The school I refer to is that of the "Brethren" or "Plymouth Brethren" founded by J.N. Darby.

At the time of the Reformation, the early Protestants widely held and were convinced the Pope was the supreme individual embodiment and personification of the spirit of antichrist, and the Roman Church. This understanding was responsible for bringing millions of believers out of the Roman Catholic religious system.

This new scheme of prophetic interpretation became known as futurism. It was a Jesuit priest by the name of Francisco Ribera who, in the days of the Reformation, first taught that all events in the book of Revelation were to take place literally during the three and a half year reign of the antichrist, way down at the end of the age. Thus, Ribera laid the foundation of a system of prophetic interpretation of which the secret rapture has now become an integral part.

The rapture doctrine was taught by the teaching of either:

1. Our LORD God, or
2. A Jesuit priest, of the 'seed' of the serpent.

Times are changing. It is being changed by following the seed of the serpent, after it was released from the pit. After 2000 years of men being the leaders in the world:

- Women received the right to vote in 1920.
- Women are now doing jobs that used to be reserved for males only.
- Women are following careers and not marriage, where they stay at home and take care of their husbands and children.

- Women are now becoming pastors, CEOs of corporations, police, governors, judges, even front-line soldiers, and are holding former exclusive male positions in government. It is against God's Law for a woman to rule over men.

- Men and women of other races are now becoming Bishops, pastors, elders, deacons or deaconesses, and members of former White churches.

- Women are the head of most families. But the Bible says that the man is the head of the wife. God did not create Eve apart from Adam, separate from Adam, or independent of Adam; she was created from Adam.

Children run many of the families too, even when they run amok and are uncontrolled. But children issue forth from their parents, and are thus under their parents' authority, just like, Eve issued forth from Adam and was created under his authority.

- New erroneous doctrines are now becoming fanatically believed in Christianity.

- Many churches were established only 200 years ago or less and many believe that they are true churches of God.

- Mixed marriages, which used to be against the law are now politically correct.

God created the races within a hierarchy, each ordained underneath the other. So, too was the hierarchy of man and woman designed. However, even as we should not "cave in" to the debauched society in which we live, when they accuse us of "racism," "prejudice," or "discrimination," neither should we cave in when they accuse us of being "sexist" or "chauvinistic." Just because a degenerate and reprobate society is opposed to the way of our God, this does not mean we should concede, acquiesce, or compromise. We must stand firm in our faith and obedience to Yahweh Almighty—alone.

Blessed be the LORD God of Israel!

SUPPOSE SATAN IS REAL: WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE?

by late Ps. Mark Downey

What seems to be important to us isn't necessarily on the front burner for other people in our Movement. So we need to examine priorities and find the unity that will motivate us to reprioritize a singleness of purpose and overcome the stumbling blocks that splinter us historically and spiritually. You may recognize this title from the often repeated 'Suppose We are Israel - What Difference Does It Make?'. It's a good question, especially if some people put forth a proposition that is paramount to their ideology.

When discussing 'satan', we are not dealing with something as tangible as a race of people claiming to be the Israel of scriptures. In essence, the nuclear message of Christian Identity has always been predicated on the reality of people fulfilling a certain role. The thing that is frustrating our Movement, more than anything right now, is the identification of Jews in a proper biblical perspective. Some go so far as to say that you can't understand the Word of God or what's going on in the world unless you accept the satanic seedline of Jews.

Very elaborate extrapolations expound at great lengths to convince people of this pressing priority. What's interesting about this premise is the very nature of satan, according to their definitions, and its reality. It does make a very big difference as to how we define this word. In fact, it makes a difference as to whether or not the Hebrew word 'satan' is transliterated or translated, the former of which it was not. Had it been translated properly as 'adversary', we wouldn't have the problem of a fanatical interpretation and an entire theological doctrine dominating a religious movement.

Indeed, the personified Satan preoccupies judeo-Christianity as well, although with far fewer critics as to its supposed reality. The attribute of Satan as a proper noun promotes the concept of a supernatural being. What difference does this make? Well, if it doesn't harmonize with the rest of Scripture, the obvious discrepancy becomes the reality. What do these proponents of a supernatural satan mean by real? We've heard everything from satan being an ugly hook nosed, pointy eared, lizard tailed, horned monster to the most beautiful of the heavenly angels who fell from grace. Maybe he's a changeling or shape-shifter! You can take your pick from this selection of different realities, but it might get a little confusing if you don't totally accept it. By the way, just to make it perfectly clear, those of us who don't buy into the satanic-seedline theory, do believe that there are satans in the world, but they are merely human 'flesh and blood' adversaries.

The antichrist Jew is a very real adversary without the supernatural trappings. Hypothetically then, let's suppose that the Satan of the Seedliners is a discernible reality to our five senses within the three dimensions of known science. Otherwise, the reality would be speculative rather than real, would it not? If satan is real, then what characteristics of Christianity distinguishes itself from other religions? Actually, the contrast may not be that great in light of comparative religion courses taught in universities and colleges. Many religions per se of the world, both ancient and contemporary, civilized and uncivilized, hold to the belief in two supreme principles, one good and the other evil.

When asserting opposite terms as dualistic, the intent is not to just acknowledge their dissimilarity, but primarily to insist that it is impossible to reduce their differences any further. If Christianity is dependent upon a real satan, then the dualism is an absolute. God's Word is absolute, but is Christianity dualism in the sense of two supernatural beings? Ironically, the ancient Persian religion of Zoroaster proclaimed an irreducible opposition between Ahura Mazda, the Wise Lord and Angra Mainyu, the Evil Spirit. The first incarnates truth, righteousness and order, while the latter represents the lie, unrighteousness and disorder.

Historically, Christian dogma has denounced dualism as a heresy and condemned it repeatedly, not from the simple fact that there is a radical difference between good and evil or the sacred and the profane. No, the rejection is directed against the metaphysical or supernatural manifestation of some personage spoiling God's creation. This is the stuff of mythologies and superstitions, whereby the priestcraft inculcates a supernatural destroyer and tempter of man. If this Satan is the personification of cosmic evil and not the adversarial agency of man alone, then how can Christianity maintain a monotheistic position?

The first commandment must have meant that "other gods", specifically the supernatural satan types, were real. That would make a difference as to what type of religion Christianity is. If we believe Satan is a real spiritual being, existing outside our normal senses, and God permits this satanic power to coexist in His creation, being able to influence and entice man to sin, not directly, but through our carnal desires, then what difference does that make to our faith and our belief in God? The difference would be who or what is responsible for acting contrary to God. With a vicarious cause for transgression, we can be persuaded to think that something outside of ourselves prompted the sin. We, therefore, can substitute our guilt to a scapegoat that is quite real in our minds. Add the Holy Spirit of God to our every day life, a mentality from God to remove ourselves from evil, and we become the rope in a tug of war between God and Satan. The entire issue is reduced to the mental assent of perceived biblical realities to have a firm or wholehearted religious conviction.

This concept of being fully persuaded about the reality of the truth or the truth of a reality is self explanatory in the New Testament as a matter of trust and obeying the simplicity that is in Jesus Christ, with the understanding that His Word is the value in which we honor Him. If we don't give God all the praise, glory and honor, which simply means all the attention, credit towards His reputation and recognition of His exclusive power, then someone or something else is receiving attention, credit and recognition that belongs to God alone.

If Satan is real, we have to share our beliefs with two supernatural beings, God and Satan. It's the difference between dualism and monotheism. We cannot believe both of these concepts for that would be double minded. There's an axiom that pertains to this hypothesis that we've been exploring and it is this: When men give anything the power to do great things, that is equal to worshipping that thing.

It is possible that the 'synagogue of satan' referred to in Rev. 2:9 was a form of dualism which applied to some early sects of first century Christianity. The identification of the serpent with the devil lead some of these groups to his worship, to a belief in a real Satan. The Ophites were a branch of the Gnostics during the second century AD, and they attached special importance to Satan as the tempter in view of their great respect for gnosis, the knowledge of good and evil which the Serpent had enabled man to obtain. They said God withheld this knowledge from Adam and that the Serpent was the real liberator of mankind since he taught men to rebel against God (as if man needs any help!). These believers in a real Satan venerated the rebellion of Cain, Esau and Sodomites as heroes. They worshipped Korah (one of Esau's sons), and especially Judas Iscariot from freeing mankind from Jesus.

Babylonian dualism was brought into contact with Christian thought through the cult of Manichaeism, circa third and fourth century AD, which reintroduced or reinvented the fantastic fables of ancient mythology. It borrowed from various religions to form an elastic and a convenient eclectic solution to the problem of good and evil. The forbidden fruit of Genesis, which the Gnostics exalted, became the theological source of the dualist doctrine of two coexisting realities, whereby Satan made an incursion into God's Kingdom and penetrated the earthly dominion of Adam-man.

In all the dualist sects, there is a glorification, not praise, but an officially established dogma put on a pedestal of a real supernatural devil, because the essence of dualism is dependent upon placing the devil highly up in status as God's rival, eternal and independent of Him. When their dogmatic perspective of the universe resurfaced in the 10th century, under the guise of the Bogomils and Cathari, their heretical reputation was contained secretly in groups known as Luciferians, who worshipped the devil under the name of Satanael, or of Sammael. This cult is mentioned by the 11th century Byzantine writer Euthymius Zigabenus as prevalent among the Bulgarian Bogomils, who held the notion that Satanael seduced Eve and that he, not Adam, was Cain's begetter.

They also put forth the idea that dualism means the belief that goodness exists only in the spiritual world of the good god; while the material world is evil and was created by an evil god or spirit called Satan and therefore Good and Evil have two separate realities. These doctrines of creation led them to rewrite the biblical story and, like all dualists, they established an elaborate mythology to replace it, and in so doing, reject the canon of scripture as holy and sacred. The dualist's interpretation of history is this constant temptation from Satan and his demonic agents to bind men to evil by means of materialism, carnality, error and false religion. The visible world, as they understand it, is in the realm of the evil one and all contact with matter and flesh, which are the devil's best instruments for gaining mastery over men's souls, should be avoided and denounced. The problem with this drastic theology is a denial of the physical messianic incarnation of Jesus Christ and the Christian concept of material matter as a vehicle of grace. Conversely, dualism advocates that good spirits, or agents of God, can save man, only by imparting to them the true gnosis concerning the forces of nature.

If all of this sounds vaguely familiar, it indeed corresponds to a religious undercurrent in Christian Identity called the Two Seedline theory. The satanic seedliners do not suppose or hypothesize. They, in fact, believe that a supernatural being named Satan is real. They may object to the analogy of dualism or even the troublesome question as to what difference does it make. I think it makes a difference to God as to how we read and believe His Word. That's got to be an important priority, because if we start out on a false premise, our understanding of divine intent will fail us and we will not help towards the advancement of Christianity.

As we study comparative religions that have come and gone, we can identify what was right and wrong. The inspired teachings and principles of scripture compared to the heresies and traditions of man basically remain the same. There is nothing new under the sun; just the magician's illusions in presentation. Thus far, I have not offered any scriptures refuting this inane presumption about satan, because I wanted you to imagine the mindset that it takes to accept it as a reality; to put yourself in the shoes of a dual seedliner. So let us now rephrase the theme by asking: What if Satan is not real? Can Christianity Survive? What saith the Word of the Lord God of Israel? • -----

WHAT IF SATAN ISN'T REAL; CAN CHRISTIANITY SURVIVE?

by Pastor Mark Downey

After the classroom hypothesis of supposing satan as a supernatural reality, we are forced to admit that this notion follows the historical theology of dualism and lends itself to the theory of the dual seedlines, or the belief in the satanic origins of jews. This is not an established fact, although Identity seedliners have fused an established world jewish conspiracy with an unestablished cosmic satanic conspiracy.

The Christian Identity community is facing an identity crisis over this 'satan' issue. Who are we . . . as a movement? We know who contemporary jews are, just using the biblical definition of an antichrist. Why do we need to go beyond scriptural parameters and attach extraterrestrial genetics of cosmic evil to the earthly biological enemies of God? Jews may be the epitome of wickedness, but I haven't heard of any devil gene discovered in their DNA.

The majority of churches and seminaries teach that satan is real, but that doesn't say much in an age of apostasy and ecclesiastical corruption. For the most part, that is why the more intellectual adherents of CI discern a problem with a false interpretation of what the word satan actually means. I have to wonder why gnostic dualism is so compatible with the Two Seedline denomination of CI. The late Bob Miles was often confused as being labeled Identity, when in fact he was not Christian at all, but an avowed dualist promoting a modern form of Manichaeism, including a celestial group of warring angels, fallen astral seed, multiple creations and of course, Satanael, AKA Lucifer, who is as real to the dualists as the true God of heaven is to monotheistic Christians.

Dualists and dual seedliners share a mutual concentric ambivalence between the uncertainties of optimism and pessimism, between light and darkness, not really knowing whether it's going to get better or worse, and offering little resolve in overcoming this supernatural devil who is no mere pesky upstart or rebellious subordinate posed to usurp the Creator of the universe. The point, for them, is that you must believe that satan is real, even though he is a false god. Well, what if satan . . . their satan . . . isn't real? What have the dualists of satanism got to lose? It doesn't make the jewish problem disappear or appear less significant. But it does mean that satanic dualists would have to admit they were wrong; that their speculations do not translate into sound biblical exegesis or respected scholarship; that they have been responsible for decades of meaningless deviations and spoiling the priority of Christian unity within the CI movement.

As a result of these elements, the 'satan is real' crowd has been an impediment to the good news of the CI message. Identity believers know all too well the curse of communicating a schizophrenic theology with the dead weight of a serpent Seedline doctrine. The evidence of this is reflected in our inability to attract proselytes necessary for a mass movement, even if we were to maintain ourselves as a remnant. CI simply meanders, without structure and discipline, thanks to the shifting sands of incompetent leadership. If we were to 'prove all things and hang on to the good' (I Thes. 5:21), we might, as a consequence, deserve the blessings of God's promises. We must resolve the dissonance between our being God's instruments of righteousness and our abject failure to convince others.

If we claim to have the proof or knowledge that Hosea 4:6 says will destroy us for lacking it and also claim that we are being destroyed because of a conspiracy against our identity as Israel, then we should be successful in our great commission to the lost sheep through one thing and that is . . . the truth. Anything else, such as grandiose mythologies, will fall short of our election and birthright.

A supernatural devil producing supernatural jews produces a religion of fears, resentments and hypocrisy. The controversy of Satan points to the basic hermeneutics of Christian apologetics. In other words, the method in presenting the reasons for defending the divine origin and authority of Christian teachings. When faced with such monumental decisions in what we should believe in, from the standpoint of discerning right from wrong or being able to separate the truth from lies, do we stand before the judgment seat, facing God, saying we did what we did because we thought it was right, with the converse reservation that we do nothing because it might be wrong? That was the thinking of dualist apologetics leader Bob Miles.

What should be obvious to any Christian is that we do what we do because of what God's Word tells us is right and we do nothing when God tells us something is wrong. Which leads us to the question, is it wrong to believe that satan is real? This opens the floodgates of scriptures, whereupon we are inundated with very plain prohibitions against other gods, strange gods, idols, heresies, blasphemies, doctrines of devils and witchcraft. If satan is not real, the dual seedliners are not only wrong, they are in grave danger of forfeiting any chance of redemption to enter the Kingdom. It would be better for them to do nothing and shut their mouths, than to be barking 'satan is real' outside the New Jerusalem with the rest of the dogs, idolaters and whosoever loves and makes a lie (Rev. 22:15).

Satan interpreted as a supernatural being is a lie. This nonsensical, unbiblical personification of cosmic evil is a man made invention. "This people draws near to Me with their mouths, and honors Me with their lips; but their heart is far away from Me. But they worship Me in vain, teaching for teachings the ordinances of men" (Mt. 15:8-9). The only real satans in the world are human adversaries who preach another Jesus, another spirit and another gospel, much the same as the religious con man or serpent that beguiled or conned Eve through his subtlety (making a lie appear as the truth) so that her and our minds should be corrupted (II Cor 11:3). Are you being seduced by the serpent Seedline theory? Do you give credence to anything outside of yourself, the power to tempt you to sin? Do you believe all power is given unto Jesus Christ in heaven and in earth (Mt 28:18)? Do you believe that each one of us is tempted when we are carried away and enticed by our own lust; then lust, having conceived, gives birth to sin, and when the sin is fully developed, it brings forth death (James 1:14-15)? This is what impregnated Eve and screws around with our mentality every day.

All temptations of evil are of this world, not some inter-dimensional devil. "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes and the pride of life is not of the Father, but is of the world" (I John 2:16). When it says ALL, does that mean anything else? These three elements are exactly what tempted Christ. The devil in this case, as it was with Eve and ourselves today, is the adversarial mentality to go against God. We can overcome adverse thinking as did Jesus Christ. There was a recent report that the Polish jew Pope John Paul II performed several exorcisms in the last 20 years. Does this mean that diabolical demons from hell are real? Certainly not! What is real in the Catholic mind or the mentality of seedliners is the belief in a lie. "And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion" (II Thes 2:11). The delusion is that satan is some kind of tangible creature. "Who [the delusional] changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the creator?" (Romans 1:25)

What is the truth of God? "I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no god beside Me . . . I form the light and create darkness: I make peace and create evil. I the Lord do all these things." (Isaiah 45:5, 7). God created evil in the sense of adversity, afflictions, calamities and grief, to be the sure fruits of sin. God brings good out of evil, which man or devils cannot do. When we repent of our sins, instead of blaming Satan for our failures, we are turning to God for our salvation. He died for our sins on the cross (I Cor 15:3).

Sin was the original cause of death. "By one man [not a supernatural devil] sin entered the world and death by sin" (Romans 5:12). So, where in the devil is a real supernatural Satan in all of this? "For this purpose the Son of God was manifested [the Word was made flesh], that He might destroy the works of the devil" (I John 3:8). But, in verse 5 it says, "He was manifested to take away our sins." "He put away [abolished or destroyed] sin by the sacrifice of Himself" (Hebrews 9:26). Well, which is it, the devil or sin?

From the foregoing evidence it is obvious that it is not either/or, but rather synonymous terms. The real satans of the Bible are not fallen angels, but in fact the carnal sin nature of man. "He that practices sin is of the devil" (I John 3:8). In other words, when we transgress the Law of God, it's from our own sin nature, being enticed by our own desires. "For the devil sinned from the beginning", meaning Adam and Eve, and continuing in v. 9, "Everyone having been born of God does not sin, because His seed [God's] remains in him and he [man] does not value sinning . . . by this are the children of God and the children of the devil revealed (v. 10). Anyone who does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor the one who does not love his brother." The context here is the racial stock of Israel, not satanic Seedline jews. If White people sin, they are the adversaries of God. The qualifier is not an evil infusion of supernatural genetics. It's behavioral in doing what's right according to God.

If you don't love your own race enough to tell a kinsman the truth and cause a brother to be twice the child of hell than yourself, then you can join the 'satan of the month club'. Verse 11 adds, "For this is the message you heard from the beginning, that we should love one another, not as Cain, who was of that wicked one [sic]." Cain was not the product of a sexual union between a devil-god and the mother of our race. "And for what reason did he slay him [Abel]?" that he was the literal seed of cosmic evil personified in a superhuman monster called Satan? No, that's not the reason given. It's "because his own works were evil" as the verse concludes "his brothers [works] were righteous."

Now you can capitalize Wicked and One as they do with the alleged proper noun Satan, but that would change the intent of God's Word. Bullinger's affirms that wicked and one are an adjective and noun respectively, explaining the Greek word ponerous to mean "full of labours and pains in working mischief." Once we recognize that the words devil and satan relate to sin and not a fairy tale competitor of God, and that sin always comes from within ourselves, then we can acknowledge that the atoning blood of Jesus is a powerful weapon to defeat all the carnality that is in the world. It conquers the power of sin by providing a means of forgiveness.

Justification imputes to us the righteousness of Christ. "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus" (Romans 8:1). We can rest assured that our rejection of Satan as a supernatural reality will not affect the integrity of true Christianity. In the real world, acceptance of such fables actually infects and contaminates Christianity with theological cancers. Ironically, the delusional deity of dual seedliners is but a mere reflection of John 8:44 which they are so fond of quoting. Little do they realize the death they bring upon themselves and others for not hearing the truth of God's Word. They too, entertain the possibilities of their precious devil, becoming blind to the purpose of Creation and estranged from the one true God. It is clear that God has no cosmic or earthly competition and that His omnipotence is virtually infinite. Spooks and goblins are best left to spear chuckers living in mud huts.

The contrived forces of darkness have no communion with the shining light of glory. Unless the seedliners snap out of their trance, they will be chasing shadows and be a bloody drag on the CI Movement. Christianity itself cannot survive the hypnotism of apostasy. Pagan concepts have riddled our faith with confusion for far too long. The theater of Two Seedline is an abomination which CI should divorce itself from. Surely, we have higher intellectual standards for the survival of White Christian civilization than the dueling banjos of good and evil. CI is in a precarious stage of development because of a doctrinal anarchy which endangers any semblance of Christian unity.

Romans 1:21 says, "Because, even though they knew God" [who is the 'they'? It is the shepherds, the pastors, the leadership] "they did not joyfully honor Him as God." And here are 4 different Bible versions of the next phrase:

but became vain in their imagination King James Version but they became futile in their speculations New American Standard but trifled in their argumentations Ferrar Fenton

but became vain in their reasoning American Standard Version

The verse concludes "and their foolish, undiscerning senseless hearts were darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools." The men of Israel in CI need to identify these devils among us and the real adversaries of God. May the nonsense of twisted interpretations wither on the vine so that we can begin to deal with real problems in the real world. That's the real deal.

ARE EVANGELISTS NECESSARY TODAY?

by late Ed Somerville

Over the last four or five decades we have watched our nation decline into what it has become today. It is no longer the city on a hill as it once was, a nation that was looked up to by every civilized country in the world. The Christians along with their pastors are no longer the salt of the earth. Dr. Francis Schaefer said over thirty years ago that The absolutes of God have all but disappeared. The absolutes of God are contained in His law that was to stand forever and will eventually be written in our hearts.

Over the last hundred years our seminaries have been heavily penetrated by the Zionists and Socialists whose goal it was to change Christianity for their ungodly plans for our nation. Our pastors were then deceitfully, cunningly and intentionally taught that Jesus came to abolish the law. This idea or theory has no foundation in the oracles of God, as it is the greatest gift given to His people. Over ninety percent of our problems we now have would disappear if we followed His perfect Law of liberty. They have been led to believe that the ungodly Humanists in our governments who make our laws have more wisdom than God Almighty. Today, most of our pastors go out of their way to speak against His Law and as a result our people never find out the wisdom contained in them.

Many Christians and pastors alike feel that the only way to turn our nation back to God is to get more people saved and into the church. Wouldn't it be great if we could get more evangelists like Billy Graham to accomplish this? No, it would not. It has been estimated that we have between thirty and forty million 'born again' Christians in America today and they have been no help in stopping or even slowing down the plans of the Zionists and the Globalists. Another thirty million more of these Judeo-Christians would be no more help for a Christian America as there is more than enough now to do the job IF we were to return to the absolutes of God and be the Onward Christian Soldiers of the song we sang in the past.

Do I think there is a need for evangelists today? To that I would say a resounding Yes. The Apostle Paul is regarded by many, including myself as the greatest evangelist the world has ever seen. Do you remember reading in the Bible where he would write to the churches in advance and tell them to find a large place to hold his meetings and go out and tell all the unbelievers that he was coming to preach to them? Of course you don't find that in the Bible as he came to speak to the believers only. That's the type of evangelists we need now because the greatest mission field is unfortunately found in our churches.

Our pastors today are not concerned with the national message of the Bible that runs from Genesis to Revelation as they are only concerned with personal salvation, personal living, personal finances and personal relationships. They have no use for His Law and all the wisdom found in the prophets. All our history and our future can be found in the prophets. The book of Revelation can not be understood without going to the prophets to find out the meanings of all the strange visions of the Apostle John.

There is no doubt in my mind that the intent of the seminaries is not to turn out pastors to teach the truth, but to conceal it. It is now possible for them to read the Bible and not understand it. However, the ones that have come to the knowledge of truth by reading it, prefer not to preach about it as it is not religiously correct, or even politically correct today. One pastor, Dr. Chuck Baldwin, who was a prodigy of Jerry Falwell while attending Liberty College found out the truth by listening to others and reading the scriptures and what he had learned about the "chosen people" was not Biblical. He was the pastor of a large church in Pensacola and quit being a government-controlled church by dropping his 501c3 status and moved to the northwest corner of Montana and started a new church where he could preach the truth.

Every Thursday morning Chuck sends out a newsletter by email to anyone that asks for it. Last week's was regarding the movies part in our downfall in the 20th Century. In the first paragraph he stated something very interesting regarding the church's role in helping this come about. "To find the industries the most culpable for the overall deterioration of the American republic (besides churches, which are at the top of the list), look no further than the Hollywood movies and the New York media (collectively, the mainstream media). These industries reach into the minds and the hearts of the"

I'm sure it was the completely apathetic and heavenly minded thirty million born again Christians that prompted him to make a statement like that. They are the ones that refuse to be concerned in the least about the national message contained in the Bible. Many feel that it is not their duty or responsibility to contend with the immoral, greedy and self-serving politicians because it is too worldly, and it is their duty to stay in their box and play church. They love to talk about sin, but refuse to define it. The Apostle John said, "Sin is the transgression of the law." If Jesus came to put away the law as many pastors say He did, it is then logical to assume that He put away sin, or as Paul said in Romans 4:15, Where no law is, there is no transgression [sin].

There are not many Baptist pastors today that are truth seekers, as they prefer to preach the things that they have been programmed to teach [or like the Lutherans, who get their weekly sermon outlines sent to them from head office]. They stop their ears from hearing anything that is contrary to their paradigms. There are many pastors now that know Chuck is preaching the truth but are afraid to take a stand with him for fear of losing members or even their job as pastor.

I'll take the time to list just a few of the many things that are not accepted or ignored by today's clergy. Paul said in Romans 15:8, Jesus came to confirm the promises [covenants] made unto the fathers. Abraham was told by God that his seed would be like the dust of the earth that could never be measured or numbered and that he would be the father of many nations. Rebekah was told that she would be the mother of thousands of millions. Since we are now living in the end of this age, there would have to be hundreds of millions of Abraham's descendants on earth today. Who are they and where are they? You have been told in the seminaries that the entire house of Israel and the house of Judah are all to be found in the fourteen million people called Jews today, which would make God's who will be 'Raptured'?

THE RAPTURE OF THE WICKED

There are two great divisions of thought regarding people's view of prophecy: The Futurist & The Historicist. Both teach that Christ will return to earth, but the division arises over the manner of His coming, and its timing in relation to "the Tribulation."

#632 @ sug don $7.90

covenant null and void. As for the many nations, He could not keep that promise either as they occupy only one antichrist nation in the Mid-East. I, along with thousands of others actually believe God's covenant and we are looked down on for believing them. Yes, there are thousands of millions of Abraham's seed on earth today and they are called by a new name, Christians, as was prophesied. The many nations that were promised are the Christian nations of Europe, America, Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand. Yes, God does keep His promises.

It is very interesting to know that Paul on his travels was not preaching to some so-called 'gentiles' or heathens as these were the 'lost sheep' that Jesus said He had come for. Paul said in Romans 7:1 Know ye not, brethren, (for I speak to them that know the law). The Law was only given to Israel [Psalm 147:19-20] and he knew he was talking to Israelites and not strangers. In 1 Cor 10:1 Paul said, All our fathers were under the cloud and all passed through the sea. They would have to be Israelites or the lost sheep. James left no doubt as to whom he was writing when he said, To the twelve tribes scattered abroad, greetings. Many pastors have been programmed to believe that the lost sheep went out of existence and just disappeared before Jesus walked the earth and said, I was not sent, but to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. That would mean that he was sent to a people that did not exist, if they are right.

Jesus said, My sheep know my voice, and they follow me. If the Jews are His sheep, then He was unable to fulfill this clear statement as the Jews have never followed Him, but have been the greatest enemies of Jesus and His followers for the last 2,000 years. Maybe He was wrong when He said, I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end, and maybe the Father was in error when He promised Abraham hundreds of millions of descendants, and there are less than 15 million of them as this age draws to its close. These very promises were confirmed by Jesus.

There were ancient Baal doctrines brought in by the mixed multitude that returned from Babylon that started to be infused into Christianity at the time of Jesus and many have remained in today's Christianity having been promoted by the Catholic Church for centuries. During the 20th Century, thanks to C.I. Scofield, many destructive and unbiblical theories have now become doctrines. None of these Zionist doctrines were ever mentioned in the prophets or by Jesus. As a result of this we now have a new Christianity unlike that of two or three hundred years ago. They have even created another Jesus, one that believes in diversity and tolerance. There is now no difference between the holy seed and the profane, and miscegenation is tolerated and even promoted in some churches.

We now have many churches that run from the Fundamental, self-righteous and pietistic churches to the ones that supply ungodly entertainment and some like Joel Osteen, who recently removed the cross from his "church" because it offended some people. None of these churches pose any threat to the Globalists and their plans for the New World Order.

Yes, I feel the time is long overdue for many evangelists to cover the churches in America and preach the national message to His people and return again to the law and the prophets that made America what it once was. The city on a hill.

DALLAS THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY by late Ed Sommerville

Back in the twenties, the great Christian Industrialist, Henry Ford, after writing his four volume book, The International Jew, said at that time there wasn't a Christian seminary in the country that hadn't been penetrated by the Zionists. I am sure that what you are about to read is not an isolated case, as these erroneous and new doctrines are taught in all the Fundamental and Evangelical churches today. The following information was given to me by my son Dan who is a professor at Wheaton College. This was told to me about fifteen years ago and I have been able to remember it as it was told to me at that time.

Dan, while attending a church at Wheaton met a man that told him about what happened to him and two of his friends that attended Dallas at the same time. They all graduated and did not go into the ministry or Christian work. They all had separate careers and I think one of them became a dentist.

While they attended Dallas they all sat under a professor Dr. John Walvoord (May 1, 1910 - December 20, 2002—President of Dallas Seminary from 1952 to 1986), who headed the studies on eschatology and prophecy and later became its president. Even after moving to different cities, they kept in touch with each other while studying the Bible and comparing notes and found out by themselves that what they had been told in Dallas was in conflict with the Scriptures.

As time went on it bothered them so much that they decided to go to Dallas and confront their former professor who was at that time president of Dallas. They then called him and he agreed to set a time and meet with them. They all flew into Dallas the day before to take the time to go over all their notes, ideas and the presentation.

The meeting started out well with them going over their years spent there. They then got into the reason they were there and then they all had a chance to present their case. He said, he listened very intently for almost two hours without interrupting them. They were very apprehensive to say the least in waiting for him to reply. They were all dumbfounded and blindsided when he leaned back in his plush chair, and with a smile on his face said, So now you know.

This same deception exists in all seminaries, as it becomes apparent by listening to the similarity of the doctrines preached by today's pastors. A few years ago I wrote a 20 page article regarding the similarity between the Freemasons and today's Christianity. There is a quotation in that which is very useful and fitting, Most lodge leaders do not realize that they are deceiving their members, and It is a system that confuses, deceives and controls men, getting them to do things that they would not do if they understood them. In the 20th Century, due to the Zionist influenced seminaries we have very different Christianity than the one that founded this nation. The new religion has stood by and watched our nation's rapid decline into another Sodom & Gomorrah with little concern from our clergy.

Everything good that has happened to America started in the pulpits; and everything bad that's happened to America started in the pulpits!

Jeremiah had something to say to the prophets that would apply to our pastors today, 23:22,

"But if they had stood in my council, and had caused my people to hear my words, then they should have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings."

There were many high profile pastors with a DD that were very vocal against this revolutionary mindset that gradually produced a religion with doctrines that were not found in the Bible, but only in Scofield's notes. These were used to promote doctrines and a completely different eschatology that was only beneficial to political Zionism and their plans for the future and not that of classic Christianity.

It does not take much of an IQ to put two and two together. Why would the greatest enemies of Jesus and Christianity for the last 2,000 years, invest so much money and time in Scofield just so the Christians could understand their Bibles better? Can you come up with another reason? Maybe I would have to spend a few years in a seminary to be able to accept things like a pastor without a valid reason. You just go by faith, the faith that is spelled out for you in the seminary. This same mindset has worked out great for the Catholics too.

About 100 years ago Christianity started to evolve to what is now known as Christian Zionism, that now has very little resemblance to the Christianity of two and three hundred years ago. It was then that Christianity with God's help created the greatest Christian nation the world has ever seen.

It was Dallas and MBI (Moody Bible Institute) that adapted the Jewish footnotes put in our Bible to deceive Christians by interpreting scripture for their Zionist goals and making the Christians feel this was penned by a Christian, C.I. Scofield. It's interesting that some of his footnotes were added years after he died. It wasn't long before the other seminaries went along with it too, as it was becoming popular and the sheep went along with it.

There are many today that are not aware of the fact that all of our Ivy League Colleges were primarily seminaries to train young men for the ministry, well grounded in the Scriptures. They of course had other courses in other subjects necessary for good leaders to build a great nation.

The Zionist enemies within our gates have done to Christianity the same as they have done to the great Ivy Leagues of yesteryear. They now teach and preach the things necessary to bring about their Zionist goals. There are many professors in the seminaries that know the old orthodox interpretation of Bible truth, but know that they would not be welcome in their seminaries if they taught it. Any professor in our universities that taught real history and civics would never rise among the ranks of the ones that taught the new history which is mostly propaganda and lies.

During the last seventy years our programmed pastors have joined forces with the ungodly Zionists and Globalists to help bring about erroneous and flawed end time prophecies that our pastors have been promoting to bring about their rapture and telling their people they won't be here when this comes to pass. Because of this, there are very few watchmen on the walls and the Christians are no longer the salt of the earth as they were in the past.

For a nation to remain both Godless and free is something that has never been nor ever shall be!•

A BIBLICAL EXPOSE ON MEMORIAL DAY

by pastor Lawrence Blanchard

Another Memorial Day has come and gone with the usual, heartfelt "remembrance" for those who have suffered and died "for our great country," (much like Australians do on ANZAC Day). It is the obligatory test of patriotism to pay tribute to "the fallen heroes" who made the sacrifices so we could have "our freedom." Platitudes abound as ceremonies commence "to honor those who gave their life in service to their country." But like so many areas of life, such staged events paste over the truth about all the wars and other unlawful military adventures and occupations "to fight the war on terrorism."

A PATRIOT

But before I go on, and lest I be tarred and feathered and un-American, let me say that I am an ardent patriot. My ancestors came to America in the early 1600s. My roots go back a long time ago, so my patriotism extends back to the early fathers of this nation who helped form this nation.

A true patriot is one who cares enough to remain loyal and yet tell the truth about all those so-called "righteous" wars and other military conflicts.

Our People Died for Our Freedom?

Except perhaps for the Revolutionary War, there is not a war or "police action" I can think of that was not contrived by the global banking cartel so that they could accumulate our wealth and enslave the people. They were staged and we were induced to fight needless wars - many against our own racial brethren. Millions suffered and died due to the propaganda of liars who got us to believe that participating in these wars was our patriotic duty to "preserve our freedom" or "stop communism" or "win the war on terror."

One of the most valuable books I have in my library is A Century of War by F. William Engdahl. The sub-title is "Anglo-American Oil Politics and the New World Order." (the book is available on-line if you Google it). In his book, the author gives a detailed account of the behind-the-scenes of the global banking cartel to "control the world's reserves of petroleum" and manipulate our Saxon nations into wars - specifically in this case World War I and II. If it were not for political traitors in America and Britain, the foreign "money power" would have never been able to carry out their evil schemes.

So, no. All these past wars going back to at least the War Between the States up to the present-day military expeditions have nothing to do with protecting our freedom at all. The purpose of these wars is to line the pockets of the enemies of Jesus Christ and destroy His People.

Does the Bible expose the likes of Memorial Day? Yes. In Matthew 23:13-36, Jesus condemns the religious leaders:

“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you build the tombs of the prophets and adorn the monuments of the righteous, and say, ‘If we had been living in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partners with them in shedding the blood of the prophets.’ So you testify against yourselves, that you are sons of those who murdered the prophets. Fill up, then, the measure of the guilt of your fathers. You serpents, you brood of vipers, how will you escape the sentence of hell?”
- Matt. 23:29-33.

Of course, this was a different context, but the principle remains the same. If the truth about all these monuments that are glorified for the disabled and those sacrificed in all these wars is denied, then we “testify” against ourselves that we participated in false patriotism that glorify these wars and the destruction of our people. Our indictment before God is denying the truth about who is behind these unrighteous “wars.”

Righteous blood has been shed for our freedom and righteous causes? No. We must say “no more” lest we be guilty of lying by pretending along with the rest of the deluded, that Memorial Day (ANZAC Day) should be observed.

I am not dishonoring those who “served,” but I am deeply saddened that so many suffered needlessly because they were lied to by the enemies of God.

We may be rejected and excluded for not going along with the unwitting crowd. But before the God of our fathers, we will stand for what patriots should stand for. The Truth! ♦

YOUNG AND OLD, TOGETHER

by Joel Hilliker

Follow this biblical principle and enjoy one of the most satisfying blessings life has to offer.

In a classic story told by Daniel Lapin, an old teacher was flying on an airplane and found himself seated next to a prominent liberal politician. Soon after the plane took off, one of the teacher’s students, who was sitting a few rows back, began waiting on his master hand and foot. Sir, let me take your shoes—here is a pair of slippers; I know how your feet tend to swell. Here is a sandwich: I know you hate airline food.

Finally the politician spoke up: “That’s amazing. I’m so impressed with your son. I have four grown sons, and they never do anything for me. How do you get him to serve you so diligently?”

The teacher responded, “Actually he’s my student. If he were my son, you would have really seen service. But you must not blame yourself. Your sons are faithful to your teachings, and my sons are faithful to my teachings. It is simple, you see. You made the decision to teach your sons that you are descended from apes. That means you are one generation closer to the ape than they. And that means that it is only proper and appropriate that you acknowledge their status and that you serve them. But, you see, I chose to teach my sons that we were created by the Almighty God Himself. And that puts me one generation closer to Him—which means that it’s appropriate that they treat me accordingly.”

God is a strong advocate of passing down instruction from generation to generation. He wants godly knowledge to grow within (extended) families. He wants children to be instructed not only by their parents, but also their grandparents (Deuteronomy 4:9).

That means the older must have a mind to teach those younger, and the younger must have a mind to learn from those older. God wants children growing up with a deep sense of honour toward their elders, and adults developing as teachers as we age. Everybody benefits!

God loves to see a family business lasting generations—a father teaching his trade to his sons, sons tracing the footsteps of their father. Jesus Christ exemplified this principle (e.g. Luke 2:49).

Without a family education, each generation starts from scratch, stumbling through life making the same mistakes as the one before.

An old Plain Truth made this point: “Imagine, if you will, a person going through kindergarten, grammar school, junior high school, high school, junior college, college, doing post-graduate work, sacrificing, working hard, finally obtaining a doctorate in some field, and then being told he must quit and be unproductive the rest of his days.

“Sound unreasonable? It would be.

“Most older people have gone through the ‘school of hard knocks;’ by experience they have learned valuable lessons about handling life’s difficult moments as well as its rewarding moments. And what happens when they are at the stage of life where they could share that information with younger generations? The younger generations, for the most part, turn a deaf ear.

“Modern, youth-oriented society as it is set up simply does not warmly welcome the participation of the elderly. It does not as a whole show a genuine interest in the well-being of its senior members” (September 1984).

In society at large, God has removed the benefit of the wise leadership of “the ancient” (Isaiah 3:1-2). Children and babes rule in their place and behave proudly against their elders (verses 4-5).

We need to recognize this crisis and take whatever steps we can to correct it in our own lives. Both parties in the interaction—old and young—are responsible for making it work.

Older people can often see younger people making mistakes and stumbling through life ignorant of the consequences of their choices. As much as we may want to look away and leave them to their own devices, God repeatedly seeks to instill in those with wisdom and experience a sense of duty toward those without it. Read passages such as Deuteronomy 6:5-9, Exodus 13:8-16, Joshua 4:4-9 and Psalm 78—these are just a few of the dozens of scriptures that focus on this important principle.

Of course, such instruction can fall on deaf ears. Thus it is crucial for young people to be trained and taught to be receptive. A good start can be made at meal times, by having everyone remain seated quietly until the Bible has been read, with thanksgiving, after which they may be excused.

How would God have the “ancient” treated? “Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head [the gray hairs of the aged], and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD” (Leviticus 19:32). The New International Version renders this verse, “Stand up in the presence of the aged, show respect for the elderly and revere your God.”

You can see how God links the concept of respect for the elderly with reverence for Him. They are connected. After all, God is the “Ancient of days” (Daniel 7:13).

Rich inter-generational relationships, rich with teaching by those elder and respect by those younger—are a tremendous resource we cannot afford not to cultivate. They are truly one of the most satisfying blessings a God-centered family has to offer!

IT'S VITAL TO CHERISH TEAM EFFORT

by Julian Tomlinson

Dismissing concerns about a multicultural Australia is arrogant and ignores ordinary people who don't believe in the Utopian dream of harmony without conformity.

Left-wing activists say things like “Our diversity is our strength,” but try telling that to the average Aussies who know harmony depends on conformity and commonality, not diversity.

At the moment, society seems determined to let people not only reject majority opinion, but demand the majority change to suit them.

If little Johnny is disrupting class, the school is encouraged to find a teaching method that suits him.

If a man wants to have a sex change and compete in women's sports and use women's bathrooms, we must change the rules and structure to allow it. Bad luck for women, and anyone who disagrees.

If a little girl wants to wear non-approved shoes to school, there's a social media campaign to get the school to change the rules.

If a foreigner wants to live in Australia, not learn English, not stand for a judge, only eat religiously-prepared food, and not adopt local customs, our leaders not only seem to tolerate it, but also outlaw criticism of it.

A sporting team can have individual standouts with different styles of play, but the team won't succeed unless the misfits follow team rules.

A team with everyone doing whatever the hell they want is not going to be harmonious and is unlikely to succeed. A player who demands the team change its philosophy to suit his “diversity,” risks becoming a pariah.

When I was at boarding school and in the Army Reserve, you couldn't have found more diverse groups of people. While each person had individual views and quirks, the only way harmony was achieved was by changing philosophies; conforming to common standards; adapting behaviour. Those who stuck to their own unusual ways were bullied, disciplined, and eventually rejected.

If you want to paint yourself purple and prance around quoting Voltaire, don't expect the wider society to be fine with it and don't expect institutions to change their standards just for you.

You are free to behave that way in private but if you do it in public, you're likely to cop some criticism and be faced with rules that don't match yours. Bad luck.

On the first day of grade 8, I wore medically-approved sunglasses because of an eye condition and I was teased mercilessly.

Part of me felt the school should stick up for me, punish my detractors and force them to accept my wishes. But instead, I stopped wearing the sunnies, the teasing stopped and I was enthusiastically welcomed.

Restrained individualism should be encouraged, unrestrained diversity is a recipe for disharmony. Selfishness is human nature, solipsism—selfishness on steroids—is poison.

I attended a Free Speech Forum in Cairns on Monday night where anti-multiculturalism activist Lauren Southern spoke. People in the crowd expressed concerns with large numbers of immigrants from vastly different cultures moving to Australia. They're worried about ethnic gangs, home-grown Islam-inspired terror attacks, and the abandonment of traditional, commonsense values.

There were no swastikas or “white power” signs, just very average mums, dads, young and old worried about governments forcing them to accept people who appear to be making little effort, if any, to accept Australia.

I liken it to a new housemate, Ivan, moving in.

At Ivan's old house, he could put his feet on the communal lounge. But the new housemates don't like feet on the lounge. Ivan is welcome to move in provided he abides by some new rules.

If he doesn't like the rules, he can find another house, or—because it is 2018—he could appeal to a tribunal.

The tribunal says Ivan can stay and can put his feet on the lounge. That's a win for diversity, but how do you think the old tenants are going to treat Ivan now?

Will they pat him on the back as they wipe the mud off the lounge, or will they grow resentful and agitated?

All that average Australians are saying is they want the “Ivans” to respect the existing tenants and enthusiastically embrace established rules.

They're not telling them to abandon what makes them an individual, they just want them to be more conforming to the host country's ways.

Half the year already gone again. It seems like yesterday we were warned of all the catastrophes associated with the Y2K. The scaremongering continues.

As to my health, I am managing to continue although I still have some days that make me wonder for how long. Other times I feel great and praise the Lord for what I can still do. We appreciate all your mail and continued support, and especially the new names submitted for the mailing list. All our lives are in God's hands and let us always give Him the honour and glory for whatever befalls us. May He continue to bless and keep you in His gracious care,
