

Christian Identity Ministries

A member of the Congregations of Israel

PO Box 146, CARDWELL, QLD, 4849, Australia

Ph: 07-4066 0146 (International 61-7 instead of 07) www.christianidentityministries.com - hr_cim@bigpond.com

"Blessed be the LORD God of Israel; For He hath visited and redeemed His people, And hath raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David; as he spake by the mouth of his holy prophets, which have been since the world began; That we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all that hate us; to perform the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant; The oath which he sware to our father Abraham, That he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our lives." Luke 1:68-75; the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic-Germanic-Scandinavian people are ISRAEL!

#390

Covenant Messenger

December AD2018

(a publication of N.Q. Fellowship of God's Covenant People)

JUDGING XMAS by Ps. Mark Downey

Scripture Reading: Isaiah 1:11-16

In case you didn't notice, I spelled Christmas X-m-a-s, because that's the way pagans spell it. They don't believe Christ is in their celebration and they would be correct. Christ is not IN Christmas any more than the Federal Reserve is in the federal government. If you corner an honest Christian, they will admit that the Bible does not sanction Christmas and that it does indeed have pagan origins... but, but, but. Therefore, judging this Christ-less celebration with Christ arbitrarily interposed in the name of the so called holy day or holiday is justified and deserving of adjudication, even though some Christians think that it's Christian. Let's keep it simple: if a pagan god is the reason for the season, would this not be having another god before the Almighty? A violation of the First Commandment? "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me" Ex. 20:3. In other words, even if the word "Christ" is used, it is not the same Jesus, the Messiah we worship. It is a vicarious identity that has no relationship to Christianity.

We can thank Constantine for the mix-up, who instituted the Edict of Toleration in 313 AD declaring the equality of all religions (the original universalism), including Christianity, which had been harshly persecuted for three hundred years previously. This poses an interesting quandary for the average Christian: do you want more persecution or are you willing to merge with pagan religions (a relevant question today)? The floggings will continue until morale improves. This political expediency is the fly in the ointment that has been with us for over a thousand years. Does longevity of tolerance then prove righteousness or the sanction to insinuate something new that the Bible never mentioned? The Pharisees accused Jesus of casting out demons by Beelzebub, but we know that the Lord did it through the power of God. By the same token, Jesus is accused of being the pagan god in a universalist (catholic) mass. I know some of our Christian Identity folks come from a Catholic background, but our movement does not have a mass, other than what is callously passed off as Christmas.

How do we judge things? We judge things exactly as God's Law prescribes judgment. Some may charge legalism here, but legalities should not be confused with what is lawful. Can the average Christian agree that only God is our Lawgiver? Does one dare to stand before God and accuse him of being legalistic? We are told that 'unalienable rights' come from God, but throughout history it is government that substitutes itself for God and passes laws that are not the same as God's Law. People have been sold the idea that privileges, social conduct, selfishness, even

IN THIS ISSUE:

Judging X-mas,	1
Prostate Health Failing,	7
Truth vs Opinion,	9
How do I observe the Sabbath?	9
Rising from the dead,	10
Oh, If we would just Listen,	10
A Visitor From the Past,	11
Training Our Children, pt 2,	11
Christmas,	12
Colloidal Silver,	14

The views and opinions expressed in the articles herein or herewith are those of the authors and not necessarily those of CIM. They are written by fallible men. You must ask Jesus to guide your studies!

CIM reserves the right to edit submitted or reprinted material in line with CIM editorial policy. CIM does the utmost to ensure that the spirit of articles remains intact at all times.

slander and lies are 'rights'. They think they shouldn't have to suffer any consequences for their actions because it's their right to do so as long as it's not against the law. Notice I did not say as long as it's not against God. Is it then fair to say that the real legalism here is wrangling a 'right' out of Christmas? The problem with this way of thinking is that it isn't how 'rights' work, especially when it comes to dealing with a philosophy of mongrelization. If Christian Identity were to exercise our rights at the expense of alien's given their rights also, we would soon have a shooting war. Why? Because we (CI) are forbidden to mix with other gods and religions, regardless of what the secular government decrees, which is a universal freedom to practice Christmas however you wish. It doesn't hinder ZOG. Let's look at it another way. Is Christmas going to be celebrated in the Kingdom of Heaven? I honestly don't think so. Should we be living our lives today as if we were already living in the Kingdom of God? I don't see how any believer could say no.

This sermon is not intended for saber rattling, but "The word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Heb:4:12) and "Moses said unto the judges of Israel, Slay ye every one his men that were joined unto Baalpeor" (Num. 25:5). These were White people who were committing the whoredoms of mongrelization with strangers and their strange gods and judged severely by the "fierce anger" of God. There's no way I can minimize the gravity of their sin and their subsequent judgment. In our recent study of Baal worship, our ancestors thought their religion was normal and that they had the right God, but they were wrong. Is identity theft a form of stealing? Yes, of course it is, and Bob can't go around calling himself Fred because that would be bearing false witness (so much for "new identities" in "witness protection" programs). Well, so far the Law has judged Christmas with three violations: 1. The First Commandment, 2. stealing and 3. lying. But adults will say that Christmas is really for children and giving them presents to see their happy faces in the morning under the decorated tree. When I was a boy, I didn't want socks or sweaters; I wanted a Schwinn bicycle and toys like other kids who had parents with money. Violation 4: thou shall not covet. Do you think I was just an atypical child-sinner or is this behavior nurtured by a crooked and perverse generation?

This sermon is not intended to be holier-than-thou, but it is asking a lot of questions. Jesus asked a lot of questions in order to distill the importance of an issue. Christmas is so ingrained in our psyche, that very few dare to peel back the layers of transgression that will reveal the spirit of anti-christ. If we are to be a "holy nation" (I Peter 2:9) and the word holy means pure or separated, the opposite of pure being profane i.e. heathenish, mixed and wicked, then wouldn't the toleration of Constantine's edict and it's modern equivalent be the same as race mixing? I heard someone say, "Any holiday with Christ in the title can't be all bad." If that is the logic, then the holiday on January 16th with Martin Luther in the title can't be all bad. And where is December 25th in the Bible again? Some companies are now instructing their employees that they cannot say,

"Merry Christmas", because it might hurt the little feelings of some hooked-nose jew and that "Happy holidays" is the politically correct salutation, which deserves a "Happy holocaust." But, are the merry men of messianic mistletoes willing to lose their jobs over the utterance of a convoluted 'Merry Christmas'?

Judgment in the Bible is associated with fire. The downfall of Mystery Babylon is described thusly, "For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies... Therefore shall her plagues come in one day, death, and mourning, and famine; and she shall be utterly burned with fire; for strong is the Lord God who judgeth her" Rev. 18:3, 8. Doesn't this sound like the drunken revelry and sexual promiscuity, the greed and gluttony of a happy holiday? The Lord said, "If you love Me, keep My commandments" (John 14:15). And, "He that loveth not his brother abideth in death" I

John 3:14. The sentiment here is that people remain dead in their sins to the world and if they call themselves "Christian", they've really never been converted to the spiritual life of Christ. These are the kind of brethren who call us scrooge or legalistic or just a party pooper raining on their Xmas parade. Christ said, "For whosoever shall do the will of My Father which is in heaven, the same is My brother" Mt. 12:50. This begs the question: do we love those who don't do the will of the Father and drag the nation down the road to judgment? Do we insist that they keep the commandments so that as a race we are not alienated from God?

Philippians 2:15 is telling us what kind of people God expects us to be, but many translations lose the racial import. The KJV says that we may be "blameless and harmless"; the FF says, "Blameless and pure, beautiful children of God, in the midst of a deformed, degenerate race – among whom you will shine like bright lights to the whole world." William Finch in his translation settles this word "harmless" (as rendered in the KJV) to be "with unmixed blood." The Greek word akeraios (ak-er-ah-yos; #185) has a connotation of being racially unmixed and figuratively speaking means innocent or harmless. And this ideal White Christian is "In the midst of a race crooked and perverted – among whom you appear as luminaries." The average American spends up to $64 a year on Christmas lights in a worldwide mongrelized holiday and yet it's the darkest day of the year. This sermon is a "Light [that] shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not" John 1:5. Phil. 2:21FF, "Because they all seek their own business, not that of Jesus Christ." There is no Christ Jesus, no Messiah, no Anointed of God in Christmas. The 'X' in Xmas blots out the name of our Kinsman Redeemer. The intended goal is to give the judeo-Christian one day of the year for Jesus Christ, which isn't the real Jesus Christ, in contradistinction to the other 364 days of the year; a pretty neat shell game for religious hustlers.

Jews have the Talmudic vision to boil the frog ever so slowly in a conspiracy lasting hundreds of years. Christmas is jewish and the judeo-Christian frogs were basking in the comfort zone of perfectly warmed waters. They even wrote songs for us to sing and a greeting card and decorations industry to make everything pretty. In the last decade or so,

New Video:

AL JAZEERA INVESTIGATIONS:

The Lobby - 4 parts

1. Young Friends of Israel. 2. The Training Session. 3. An Anti-Semitic Trope. 4. The Takedown. Israel clandestine activity in London, targets Labour Party with outrageous interference especially influencing young people. Working to make more people pro-Israel. Anyone who asks questions is accused of being anti-Semitic. Israel exposed as an Apartheid state. Trying to take down and destroy British MPs in the government.

CI-1090 @ sug don $9

the Jewish Christmas peddlers have shifted gears and turned the heat up so that the holy day becomes more generic, Christian symbolism is slowly removed and the real motive becomes apparent: the frog is boiled to death. Had the frog never jumped into the saucepan, do you think we would have the same situation we have today? But the thinking goes that "Oh well, once we're in the water, there's no getting out and we should just make the best of it." This is the psychology of defeat and the Jew is banking on, you not jumping out before the hot bubbling cauldron engulfs your frantic attempts to get out.

A short history lesson from Alexander Hislop's classic book 'The Two Babylons' (#907 @ $44.45) reveals that Christmas goes back further than Constantine. Indeed, the Winter equinox was and is the epitome of pagan celebration having its roots in Babylon during the reign and deification of Nimrod, who Hislop claims was a negro. He writes, "Babylon was, at that time, the center of the civilized world; and thus paganism, corrupting the divine symbol as it ever has done, had opportunities of sending forth its debased counterfeit of the truth to all the ends of the earth, through the Mysteries that were affiliated with the great central system in Babylon." It is no big surprise then that permutations of pagan traditions were adopted by Anglo-Saxons in later times. But, let's make an analogy in the extreme and say that it was the literal personified "Satan" whose birthday was December 25th and later became Christianized. Would it then make any difference to a Christian who regarded Christmas as something legitimate? Can the unpardonable sin become Christianized? Can the abomination of desolation be Christianized? Can the blasphemy of the Holy Spirit be Christianized? Can the mixing of a false Christ and Jesus the Christ be Christianized?

It's bad enough that churchianity celebrates the birth of a swarthy colored Babylonian on December 25th and then chastise some of us in Christian Identity who celebrate the life and resurrection of a White Savior every day of the year. "Therefore if united we have become in the likeness of His death, then also shall we be of His resurrection" Romans 6:5. I can't find any passage that would emulate the birth of baby Jesus as compared to the significance of His life, death and resurrection. Perhaps some baby Christians are still sucklings on the milk of Babylon and have never matured in Jesus to feed on the milk of the Word to know that Christmas is anathema to Christianity. There's no record of Jesus or Christians after Him celebrating His birthday for 300 years, so why should we?

There are many Christians with good intentions about Christmas, but have a bad understanding of the intent of God's Law. White people more than any other race, have a unique love-hate relationship with their own kind and especially for their immediate families. This struggle is exacerbated from alien elements that divide and conquer the nuclear family. I personally have had an internal conflict over Christmas and family for many years and I know that others have the same problem. About 10 years ago I gave up on trying to convince friends and family that Christmas is wrong. But, the last couple of years I've gotten my second wind. The only thing that compelled me to sit down and eat a Christmas dinner with my parents was the command to, "Honor thy father and thy mother." It was not just a reluctant obedience to the letter of the Law, but a spirit of love for my late mom and dad, in spite of my own sense of hypocrisy. I felt guilt for acquiescing to Christmas in this way, because the New Covenant has the Law written in my heart and mind. I might add that 20 years prior, I had a sit down Bible study with my parents, which I thought was going well, but after 2 hours, my father decreed that politics and religion would never be discussed under his roof again. I've heard from other Christian Identity folks that have it far worse, where brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles, cousins, bring a mamzer (mixed-breed) into the congregation of the family for the holiday. "What communion hath light with darkness" is not referring to light and dark turkey meat at the dinner table. Life is not always an opportunity to witness the Word, but a challenge to our testimony of walking in the Word. I guess the cliché example would be teaching morality in a brothel. We have a lot of admonitions to balance. "Abstain from all appearance of evil" I Thes. 5:22. And "If thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness... he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul" Ezek. 3:19. We are forced to judge things! It's imperative that we engage in judging Xmas because of the appearance of wickedness. It makes a guest appearance every year.

It is with sadness and pity that a natural alienation occurs with the alien character of Christmas, between kith and kin, for merely professing the truth of Jesus. If we could only muster the diplomacy of a perfect ambassador of Jesus to articulate this terrible day of Babylon, where the Lord implores His people to "Come out of her... that ye receive not of her plagues" (Rev. 18:4). Lot was told to leave town and not look back (Gen. 19:17), not to reason with those who were about to be destroyed. Matthew 10:35-36 predicts trouble with our relatives as Jesus declares, "I am come to set a man at variance [division] against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law. And a man's enemies will be of his own household." What traditions do you suppose could possibly precipitate such an inglorious family feud? This is quite a remarkable statement for the families who heard these sayings of Jesus as His predictions took place shortly after their final rejection of Jesus and His offer of Salvation. There is an urgency that must be tempered with patience to plant the seeds of a real and constant language of faith and love. Nothing could be worse than the condemnation of divine judgment for following the traditions of man, which run the expanse of time. Man does not have the right to say anything he wants. He can try to pick a fight with God. He can say, "Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law-" (Albert Pike). But there is a cause and effect to everything: the wages of sin is death and Christmas is a deathtrap. Just like a mousetrap with a little bit of cheese on it waiting for the mouse to take a nibble.

It seems that every year Christmas deteriorates in ratio to the ungodliness and lawlessness throughout our land. It's because Israel dumped the system of judges a long time ago and wanted to be like the other countries with really cool kings. But, it quickly devolved into various systems of tyranny. Did you hear about the Xmas shoppers and a stampede for Nike's new 'Air Jordan' shoes? People trampled and fighting; police using pepper spray. This is what Xmas has become in the United States of Kenya. How low do we go? Most people don't think of Christmas as a government

New Video:

CIA WHISTLEBLOWER

1. CIA Whistleblower exposes

Climate engineering, Vaccine dangers and on 9/11.

2. Agenda 21 infiltrator spills never before heard secrets - the Invasion has kicked off.

3. Global 5G Wi-Fi will be inescapable and dangerous.

4. Have you been infected? 10 symptoms caused by depopulation - slow kill.

5. Don't Talk to the Police.

CI-1091 @ sug don $9

sanctioned national holiday, a day of rest, but it is. But most Christians should know that only God can declare a Sabbath, a day of rest. We have the option at any time to pronounce 'no king but Jesus' and return to the Laws of God to govern our land, but, but, but. The Law still judges, in spite of the browning of America. It's not dead, it's just not used. "Let every soul be subject unto the higher authorities. For there is no authority except from God; those authorities that exist are ordained by God. Whosoever therefore resists the authority is opposed to the appointed of God, and those in opposition will receive judgment." We know that Romans 13 has been thoroughly subverted to serve the tyrant in both church and state. That's why Christmas was practiced in the old Soviet Union i.e. jewish communism under the auspices of a KGB-controlled "Orthodox Church."

We know that the jews love to play their game of Marxist Dialectics and very few of our people know that they're being scammed. First the jew sets up and promotes the oxymoron of a pagan Christmas, the thesis; then he sets up a myriad of other holidays that are in competition with Christmas, the antithesis; the jew then enforces man-made laws with the help of the ACLU to remove Christmas from certain venues and thereby infuriating Christians to love the pagan Christmas with even more passion, the synthesis. It is contrived from the beginning of Black Friday to the end of the Rose Bowl. It's like George Bush all over again: "Fool me once, shame on... shame on you... Fool me... you can't get fooled again." It's just nuts, isn't it?

Anybody who tries to incorporate the Christian ideal, whose manifestation would be for the blessing of his kindred, must first find teachers and students who are committed to the ideal until the final objective is achieved. Ask yourself: who are the pied pipers of Christmas and what else do they teach? The Christian ideal is to judge everything that hinders God's Kingdom. But the aspirations for God's blessings are always met with the pervasive spirit of the status quo, using worn out excuses from the dead past to mislead and misinform our people. Therefore, any countermeasures to Christian principles, in an attempt to revitalize pagan principles, are the vainglory of delusion. God only allows a silly reason for a season. The foolishness of Christmas will not last forever as we see it swirling down the jewish toilet, as its new all-inclusive holiday mutation is likewise flushed into oblivion.

Warnings must go out to those marginal Christians who are peddling pagan folklore inadvertently and will never advance the Kingdom of God; non-Christians do even less to enhance the possibility for White Power. Pagans bear no visible fruit in society today other than one more self-serving subculture of human fungus. This can be no more evident than a movement with a Big Tent philosophy in which only a very small percentage commit to the organization and its ideology. The majority are just along for the ride with the intent of serving and helping themselves.

The Christian Identity imperative has a much higher calling and purpose, which sacrifices 'self' to the Cross of Christ. Our focus in everything is to the glory of God and with that kind of vision we will see the victory over our enemies. If Christian Identity is a movement of God, it will not be possible for anyone to promulgate their old secular ideas or religious leaven into the pristine message of who we are and who the jews are not. Try as they may to drag their denominational baggage, including Xmas, into our movement, we will accept no substitutes for the truth; and for that commitment by our members, our primary mission remains intact and stronger than ever, in spite of doctrinal conflicts. But, I believe we could be even stronger if we go on to the offensive and bury the Xmas myth in unison. After all, what has Xmas done to help save White civilization?

It is the perfidy of jewish self-interest to treat the secular comedians of Xmas with respect and latitude, while at the same time taking gratuitous swipes at the tenets of Christianity. If the judeo-Christian could only realize that the jew attacks Christ and Christians 24/7 every day of the year and that jews would be in real trouble if the masses of Christendom were to boycott the monstrosity of Christmas altogether. Repudiate and repent of the holiday-beast 666. But they will do nothing until and unless they understand that jews are antichrists and not Israelites. We are persecuted by the jew, because we are feared. We are a threat to the merchants of Babylon. They don't care about the mythological gods of the Vikings or Norse. The jew cannot tolerate a bigoted Christian and a Christian bigot cannot tolerate a jew. The jew can control just about any Joe Sixpack, but he has no control whatsoever against the White man who puts on the whole armor of God.

Xmas is a pacification program to spiritually disarm us, so that our attention is diverted from the necessity of fighting together in a common cause against a common enemy. I would reject any leadership among us that says we've got to stick together and then promotes the proverbial Christmas party. How in the heck can you bring down the Baals if you're partying? Do you really think the Lord will forgive them, for they know what they do? Judgment is coming. Are you on the side of Christmas, or Jesus the Christ?

One feels embarrassment when noticing the avatars of runes and meaningless pagan symbols, and an undefined implication of volkish things of a long forgotten past, reinvented for the consumption of those who can't get it into their heads that Christianity is not jewish; but they have this insatiable religious yearning for the truth about our race. They subsequently fall into the trap of Yuletide cheer borrowed from the Mystery Religions of Babylon and a negro god. We can have no hope of achieving, let alone maintaining a unity in Jesus, if we judge things according to what we think is right, when God has already judged things for us. This doesn't mean we can't think for ourselves; it means our thinking is in league with judaism and secular humanism. Every White person has the gift wrapped present to have the mind of the Anointed (1 Cor. 2:16).

The problem is a glamorized reinterpretation of the White race and our sinful pagan past, which can never be adopted into a modern wholesale cultural state of neopaganism or be the basis of a militant theocratic movement. Christian Identity cannot afford to compromise our children's future with milquetoast toleration of ancient traditions. Christmas stands in our way. It will either crush our racial integrity or we will crush its insidious universalism. How can we be a holy people, whom the Lord has chosen to be a special people above all the races that are upon the earth (Deut. 7:6), if we choose not to be holy and prefer to be equal with all the other races and religions? The strange gods have contaminated White Christian culture, because Xmas has been a party to the traditions of the elders (The

CDs of the Month:

E-315 The Message of Repentance, 2,
Dan Gayman

E-316 Bad Ideas are not Fair, Mark Downey
E-317 Forgive us our Debtors,

E-318 Honor Thy Father and Mother

E-319 Two Important things to Believe

E-320 The Resurrection Power of God,
Brian Jones

E-321 The Religion of America

pastor Don Elmore (unless otherwise noted)

Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion), the Masonic 'brotherhood of man' and the ill begotten Hinduism of "Peace on earth, good will towards all races and religions."

If churchianity is so hot and bothered (think frog in saucepan) about Obama notifying the official White House Christmas ball ornament artist not to paint anything religious on the balls this year, because 'change you can count on' is changing 'Christmas tree' to 'Holiday tree' and likewise the governor of Rhode Island is doing the same thing; if White Nationalists are so steamed about a giant Menorah being put in place (with a giant construction crane and a bucket full of rabbis lighting the candles... really!) in front of the White House, while at the same time, less than life-size Nativity scenes with plastic figurines in a manger (probably made in China) are deemed illegal and removed from public places (just like the Ten Commandments), then I ask you: why don't they do something about it? Why don't they bring down the Baals? I'll tell you why. It's because they obey the ancient decree of the Buddhist king Asoka, "One shall not condemn another religion or race by word or deed." They might be arrested for vandalism. They might be charged with a hate crime. Or they might be condemned by God for whoring after strange gods. I had to laugh about a news report that said people were getting sick from a mold growing naturally on Christmas trees, from a spore that triggers a wide range of health complaints. Lord only knows how unnatural a Christmas tree farm is and all the chemicals they use.

It's uncanny how former Klan leader David Duke and former rabbi, Brother Nathaniel, a clownish jew who thinks it's Halloween and dresses up in an Eastern Orthodox priest costume, both of whom get regular internet exposure on the Jeff Rense website (who is also jewish), have written almost identical articles on Christmas: 'The Jewish War on Christmas' and 'The Jews Who Stole Christmas' respectively. The jews are not at war with Christmas as Duke contends, but rather thrives on its Talmudic obsession to destroy Christianity. What better way to do that than to plant the tares of pagan holidays with the wheat of God's Sabbaths? Duke calls the disparity between the legality of Christian and jewish decorations on public properties a "hypocrisy [that] reveals the real rulers of America." However, that is not how the neurotic mind of a jew works. They consider themselves the masters of the double-mind as an asset in their conspiracy to work the wonders of Marxist Dialectics. Their lack of moral compunction goes way beyond mere hypocrisy. It is the oriental art of war found in Sun Tzu that is predicated on the most elusive of deceptions. The motto of the Mossad is 'By way of deception, we shall wage war.' He should have titled it 'The Christian Deception of Jews.' I hate the term 'Jewish Supremacism' that Duke uses, because superiority is a virtue which only God can give to people. Hanukkah and the Menorah are not celebrations of jewish supremacy from other people per se as Duke asserts. No, it's a flamboyant and repugnant symbol of jews, that God is using to show the eternal conflict between Jacob-Israel and Esau-Edom. I suppose Duke would display a modicum of righteous indignation over the jewish mayor of Nazareth for banning Christmas trees. But, so what? Jews spit on Christians in IsraelIE all year round. It's the spittle of hate within the jewish soul that far outflanks any silly notion that there's a war over a tree.

Brother Nathaniel does a wonderful job of jewish disinformation and deception in his pitch at being a pretend Christian. But, as most Christian Identity adherents know, no jew can ever be a Christian. The jews aren't a "Grinch" which he alludes to. They are more like the proverbial parasite that feeds on a putrefying body; the body of Anointed that has become apostate. When a member of our body turns gangrene, it has to be amputated; dead branches need to be pruned. Christmas is the cancer on our body politic.

There is no greater cultural transgression in the history of our race against the God of Israel than the false Christology of Christmas. It mocks God and dares Him to execute His judgments. True or false? "If a man abide not in Me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned" John 15:6. It's true and yet those who call themselves believers incredibly justify the dead fruits of Christmas with the fruits of the Holy Spirit. What blasphemy! Christ said, "I am the True Vine, and... the branch is not able to bear fruit by itself unless it should abide on the vine" John 15:1, 4.

Xmas is more like the vine of poison ivy. The spirit of Christmas is clearly a rejection of Jesus Christ no matter how many tear-jerker movies they make on the Hallmark channel.

What has been stolen, Rabbi Nathaniel, is the title of "Christ." And the universalists did that with clever word-smithing. Christmas has always been a mutation, a deviant aberration and a fraud. If you know the truth, that nothing has been stolen or taken from the pagans, but rather something that has been foisted upon us and given to us on a silver platter that masquerades as Christian. It's Halloween in December. The truth can make us free from any obligatory demands of the pagan gods or family pressures with a guilt-free conscientious objection and rejection of December 25th as having any significance whatsoever. It would be the worst day to proselytize the celebrants who love this so called holy day, because it is the climax of their pre-conditioned programming. Cognitive dissonance would be at its highest levels. We could go down the street to the megachurch and do a Fred Phelps protest with signs saying 'God hates Christmas.' But here's the kick in the pants: I've heard that some churches are closing their doors today (December-25) so that people can be with their families. I don't think that's what, "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy" (Ex. 20:8) means... do you? Oh yeah, it's a holy day, a holiday. But what is being hallowed for God's sake?

I think the Puritans had it right among the 13 colonies to reject Christmas and made it illegal from 1659 to 1681. It was repealed under pressure from English political authorities even though the common sentiment was against it. In 1701, Puritans broke windows (vandalism) at the King's Chapel in Boston, protesting the Anglican's Christmas service. Noted Puritan minister Cotton Mather warned his congregation against secular celebrations of the holiday in his Christmas Day sermon of 1712: "Can you in your conscience think that our Holy Saviour is honored by Mad Mirth, by long eating, by hard Drinking, by lewd Gaming, by rude Revelling? ... If you will yet go on and do Such Things, I forewarn you That the Burning Wrath

*New or Recently Listened to CDs & DVDs

*D-071 Recipients of the Gospel, 2,
Lawrence Blanchard*

E-562 Get off the Fence, Brian Jones

J-507 God's Protection & Preservation, John Weaver*

N-125 The Place of Worship, 1, William Einwechter

T-1505 Thessalonians, Robert Phillips*

AC-2901 The Faith Once for All,
Burk Parsons*

AC-2902 Always Ready, Stephen Nichols*

X-918 The Ten Commandments, Dennis Prager*

of God will break forth among you.” Even after the founding of the United States, no state recognized Christmas as a legal holiday. It wasn’t until 1870, after 620,000 White men died from a Jew manipulated civil war, that an alcoholic President Grant declared Christmas a national holiday. God had nothing to do with it.

God wants us to be merry, but I don’t think he wants us to say, “Merry Christmas.” Not when you consider the sordid details and evil machinations behind the scenes to make it happen. God wants us to rejoice. “When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice; but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn” Prov. 29:2. America’s first homosexual president and Jewish agent for the Rothschild’s, Abraham Lincoln, suspended the laws of the United States and instituted Martial Law Rule in its place. It has never been rescinded. Since that time, America has been ruled by tyrants and the matrix of Christmas has been a controlled government operation. As time rolled on, the American people i.e. White Christians, would be re-educated in government schools and they would eventually forget their Christian heritage, and would lose the dignity of White men who know they are the most superior creations of a loving God. They would shrink in their stature, the head would become the tail, and they would think they deserve only those privileges bestowed on tax slaves by their schizophrenic masters of usury and a law of the jungle. I can’t think of one righteous man in office and so we have no business rejoicing in a prefabricated holiday of the antichrist. The state approved church will twist any truth that gives you the notion that you have a right to judge anything. The Grinch hasn’t stolen Christmas, it has stolen our identity. Without knowing who we are, we have no idea of the authority that God, not government, has given to us to execute His Laws. Had the Puritans executed a few Baal priests of Christmas, blasphemers of the Holy Spirit accusing Jesus of paganism, much like Elijah dispatched the priests of Baal, we wouldn’t be in the universalist paradise of Mystery Babylon. But maybe this apostasy was always in God’s plan to bring forth the final judgment, a final solution to the Jewish menace, the Jewish-catholic-pagan Xmas. Our people have been conned into worshipping what they feel, not what they know or should have understanding of. “Shall I not punish these people? saith the Lord; shall I not avenge Myself on a nation such as this? A shameful and horrible thing is committed in the land. The prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests rule on their own authority, and My people love to have it so; and what will you do when the end comes? Jer. 5:29-31.

I believe the Kingdom Age is nearly upon us and much like in the days of Noah, the people are partying right up to the final moments of divine judgment and destruction for those who did not “Come out of her” and did not become overcomers of the world and loved their ‘Merry Christmas’ right up to the very end. If we understand the signs of the times and seasons in which we live, we will be able to see how prophecy is being fulfilled, without being fooled by the spirit of antichrist, and be able to plan our lives accordingly. It’s not a time to head for the hills or go into hiding, but rather a time of preparation to evangelize the lost sheep of the house of Israel with the Gospel of Truth for judgment is coming and Christmas will be judged. How can it escape the damnation of hell?

Jesus said to the Disciples who left everything to follow Him, “Truly I say to you that you who have followed Me in the regeneration, when the Son of Man shall sit on the throne of His glory, and you also shall sit upon twelve thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel. And everyone who gave up [their homes and family – paraphrase]... for My name’s sake... shall inherit eternal life” Mt. 19:28-29. What do you suppose they’ll be judging? Mark 7:6-9 provides a clue, “But He said unto them; ‘Well did Isaiah prophecy concerning your hypocrisy, as it is written that ‘This people honors Me with their lips, but their hearts keep far from Me! And vainly do they worship Me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men!... And He said to them, You skillfully sidestep God’s Law in order to establish your own tradition.’” In this same chapter Jesus speaks about honoring your mother and father and as we relate that familial relationship in regards to Christmas and how we reconcile the December deja vu of so many hypocrisies, I found comfort in verse 15, “There is nothing outside of man entering into him which is able to defile him, but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile him.” Having an understanding of the Law and knowing the import of sin will cause us to seek the grace of God, preventing the vile thoughts and affections that work from our vain imagination and lusts of the heart. The Christmas spirit feeds from within and breeds contempt for spiritual purity just as much as the spirit of universalism has enmity towards racial integrity.

We are first and foremost, the servants of Jesus the Christ, not servants of the church or governments or traditions. No man has the right to judge a servant of Jesus Christ, but the Christian has a duty to discern what is of God. When Paul said, “One man esteems one day above another; another esteems every day alike. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind” (Romans 14:5), the context was the institution of Israel’s Sabbaths as it applied to those Israelites in Judea and also the Israelites in dispersion (called gentiles) who were becoming new Christians. It could not possibly have had any application to Christmas, because it was non-existent to the apostolic church in the 1st century. The early Christians would have easily condemned such nonsense. Christmas would have been found guilty and blasphemous.

In the fourth century, the Church Councils attempted to force all Christians to a uniform belief system on the grounds that there was but one universal church. This is the ideal, but because they redefined the Church to mean an organization rather than the body of anointed, they applied it in the wrong spirit and usurped the sovereignty of Jesus and they began to judge the servants of Jesus the Christ and the non-conformists were branded heretics who would be tortured and murdered. Paul taught his brethren to show love toward those who hold differing opinions or alternative interpretations of Scripture, because there were controversies about the food laws and feast days. The principle holds true on all matters that do not involve the exclusive with Jonathan Gray, noted explorer, archeologist and author.

Old Historic LOAN Video:

Surprising Discoveries 4

STRANGE SIGNS IN THE SKY

from the glories of distant galaxies -- to the coded message of the ancient sky maps. What were the ancients trying to tell us?

Why did some ancient sages follow a star to a precise spot on earth? What did they know? How were they sure what they would find?

An amazing sign seen over the North Polar star now - and linked to prophecy. These pictures on the sky map were used to describe the story and NOT to tell people’s fortunes through stars.

CI-280 @ sug loan don $7 nature of sanctification, justification and glorification as it pertains to the true Israel. Our unity is racial identity and knowing what to do with it per Scripture.

The body of anointed (Christ) constitutes those who have faith. Apart from His resurrection, there is no resurrection for us either. You cannot say that about His birth, which has been turned into a carnival of sin. I cannot judge another servant of Christ, because it is the Law that judgeth, but I can judge Christmas as God would judge it. The First Chapter of Isaiah conveyed how God felt about such things. “How is the faithful city become a harlot! It was full of judgment; righteousness lodged in it; but now murderers. Thy silver [money] is become dross [fiat], thy wine [blessings] mixed with water [diluted, adulterated]; Thy princes are rebellious [lawless legislatures], and company of thieves [corrupt corporations]; every one loveth gifts [Xmas presents], and follows after rewards [bribes]... And I will turn My hand upon you, and thoroughly purge away your dross... And I will restore thy judges as at the first, and thy counselors as at the beginning... Zion shall be redeemed with judgment” Is. 1:21-23, 25-27.

There is justice in God’s plan for the ages and we can see it through God’s perspective. His justice is inevitable and unavoidable for each of us as well as the adversaries of God. However, our most dangerous adversary, the one that will subject us to the wrath of God, the one that falls short of the glory of God, the one whose righteousness is as filthy rags, is not the outside agitators, but the sinner within. Before we can battle victoriously against the jew devils that are manifested in the corruptions of modern Babylon, we should pray for the courage of personal repentance, accept what we can’t change in other people and wisdom to know one from the other.

Courtesy Kinsman Redeemer Ministries,
Box 436 Alexandria, KY 41001

PROSTATE HEALTH FAILING

not medical advice, just for your information

About one in every six men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer during his lifetime. Prostate problems can begin in your 40s and are common in men age 50 and older and the risk for developing prostate cancer is greatest for men over the age of 65. In the United States, second to skin cancer, prostate cancer is the most common cancer diagnosed in men. It’s estimated that about 165,000 new cases are detected each year, and about 30,000 deaths annually are caused by prostate cancer. This makes it all the more important to pay attention to any prostate cancer symptoms you may notice.

Enlarged prostate or benign prostatic enlargement happens when cells in the prostate abnormally begin to divide and multiply, causing the organ to increase in size. Benign prostatic enlargement or BPE is also commonly called benign prostatic hyperplasia or BPH. An enlarged prostate can cause frustrating and uncomfortable symptoms, most commonly urinary and sexual difficulties. These problems may decrease an individual’s overall quality of life. However, BPH is not associated with cancer and usually not a serious health threat, if treated. There are several treatment options, including a wide range of natural remedies and lifestyle changes, which may help ease symptoms of BPH.

When the prostate becomes irritated or inflamed it is known as Prostatitis. It is one of the most common prostate problems for men under the age of 50. It can come on suddenly or it can be a chronic problem that keeps going away and coming back. The symptoms of Prostatitis are similar to the symptoms of prostate cancer. Having prostatitis or an enlarged prostate does not increase your risk of prostate cancer. Prostate problems are common in men but a healthy lifestyle and changes in diet can reduce the risk of cancer and other disorders. They are treatable, especially if you take care of things early on.

What Are the Symptoms of BPH?

Since the prostate gland surrounds the urethra, the tube that carries urine out of the body, it is easy to see that enlargement of the prostate can lead to blockage of the tube. You may develop”

- Slowness or dribbling of your urinary stream
- Hesitancy or difficulty starting to urinate
- Frequent urination

- Feeling of urgency or sudden need to urinate

- Need to get up at night to urinate

as symptoms progress, you may develop:

- Bladder stones
- Bladder infection
- Blood in your urine

- Damage to your kidneys from back pressure caused by retaining large amounts of extra urine in the bladder

- Sudden blockage of the urinary tube, making urination impossible

Prostate Cancer Causes and Risk Factors

Like other types of cancer, prostate cancer is believed to be caused by a combination of factors, including those that are genetic and lifestyle-related. Prostate cancer develops when cells in the prostate mutate and divide, caused by abnormal changes in the cells’ DNA. As the cells start to grow and divide more rapidly than normal cells, healthy cells die off and abnormal cells form a tumor. The tumor will sometimes stay within the prostate gland but at other times will spread and invade nearby tissue or metastasize to other parts of the body.

Researchers claim they now know that risk factors for developing prostate cancer include:

Being over the age of 60. The average age at diagnosis of prostate cancer is 64 years old. As a man gets older, his chance of developing prostate cancer increases. Family history of cancer, especially prostate cancer and men who have had a close relative with prostate cancer are 50% more likely to develop the disease compared to those who do not. If the affected family members were diagnosed before the age of 60, the risk is even higher. A family history of other cancers, such as breast cancer, ovarian cancer, colon cancer or pancreatic cancer, also increase a man’s risk for developing prostate cancer.

Genetic factors. Certain genes have been identified that can increase the risk of prostate cancer. Some studies have found that obese men have a greater risk for developing aggressive prostate cancers but not slow-developing types, a more difficult time recovering from surgery and have a greater risk of dying from prostate cancer. Poor dietary habits are a factor, especially eating a highly processed diet that includes refined/trans fats, lots of added sugar (forget the soft drinks) and processed carbohydrates. There also seems to be an association between a lack of vegetables in the diet (especially veggies like cauliflower and broccoli) and a higher risk of aggressive prostate cancer.

Lack of exercise and sedentary lifestyle. Low vitamin D levels. Due to little sunlight exposure, men who live north (or south) of 40 degrees latitude have the highest risk for dying from prostate cancer of any men in the United States.

Exposure to certain toxic chemicals, including "agent orange," herbicides and defoliant chemicals that have a history of use among the military, especially during the Vietnam War. Many occupational studies have shown that farmers who mix and apply pesticides on their crops have a much higher risk of developing prostate cancer. These large epidemiological studies have implicated a variety of organophosphate and organochlorine pesticides and herbicides, including malathion, 2,4D, and carbaryl, that are still used in crop and at-home applications today.

For some time now we have been warned of the dangers of Bisphenol-A - better known as BPA. BPA is an industrial chemical that is used in many household plastics and food packages. It's capable of interfering with the body's hormones, particularly estrogen, and scientists have linked BPA exposure to diseases, such as cancer and diabetes. Mothers have been made aware of the dangers of BPA chemical used in many types of baby bottles. BPA is used to harden plastics, prevent contamination of foods, and stop cans from rusting.

In recent years, several studies have confirmed that BPA affects endocrine function (hormonal balance) in animals and humans, and new moms have been warned to avoid baby bottles that contain this chemical and to take steps like not boiling polycarbonate bottles or heating them in the microwave. BPA has been linked to both male and female infertility, early puberty, hormonal breast and prostate cancers, and metabolic disorders like polycystic ovary syndrome.

Now, a shocking new study, (no, not really that shocking) but a number of animal studies have shown that even at low exposures, BPA affects rat prostates, causing DNA damage and development of pre-cancerous lesions. One study using human prostate cell lines has also shown DNA damage. The notorious endocrine-disrupting compound has also been shown to interfere with prostate cancer treatment in humans. Why this happens is not clear, but some prostate cancer therapies rely on mechanisms that block male androgen hormones. BPA, which has activity similar to the female hormone estrogen, may potentially interfere with these therapies by acting directly on prostate cells. When you must use a water bottle, we recommend using a BPA-free Nalgene water bottle.

Not to just focus on the negative side of things, there is good news. One of the things I believe the Remnant understands more than most of the world is a truth found in John 10:10. It says, The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy. The Remnant believes this and thus understands that we indeed are at war! We have enemies that do just this, they seek to steal, kill and destroy and they do quite well at it, as you can see.

One of the thoughts that I had recently was that our enemies must be quite confused on why people are not dropping like flies. That is where the grace and mercy are coming in from our Heavenly Father. They poison our air, our water, our food and continue to genetically alter everything they can get their hands on.

Jesus save us indeed needs to be our prayer on an everyday basis! The more we look and study on what is happening to our environment from these poisoners, the more I am convinced that it will be our Saviour who delivers us from the hands of our enemies. Not to say I am just going to stand by and do nothing.

Luke 18:8 I tell you that He will bring about justice for them quickly. However, when the Son of Man comes, will He find faith on the earth?

This is a question. When He returns, is He going to find a Remnant who still has faith? I believe part of that faith is fighting. When He returns, is He going to find those that fight for what they believe in? Fighting for their health, fighting for their children's health, fighting for their rights? I certainly want to be found in that number. The ones that fight have faith. The ones that, though weary, they press on and do just that, in fighting the good fight of faith.

God has given us many healthy things that are for our benefit. A recent study stated, "As a nutrient, vitamin D is surely essential; without it, we couldn't absorb the calcium and phosphorus we need for healthy bones. But research increasingly points to other benefits from vitamin D. One of these is possible protection against cancer.

Scientists are finding that vitamin D can slow the growth of abnormal cells. It might also starve tumors by making it difficult for them to sprout new blood vessels. New findings suggest that prostate tumors in particular can become highly aggressive when a man's vitamin D levels are too low. A report in the journal Clinical Cancer Research showed that the lower the vitamin D level, the more aggressive the prostate cancer."

This study adds to the growing body of sound information that vitamin D may be important to several areas of health, cancer prevention being one of them. This is just one of the very many God-given supplements the Heavenly Father has provided. Just remember that sunscreen blocks out vitamin D absorption (Naturopaths, through iridology can often detect problems before they become serious. If in doubt, visit one regularly. For ongoing prostate health, zinc supplements, saw palmetto supplements, ginseng and ginkgo-biloba may also be helpful - for vitamin D = 30 minutes of sunlight on skin per day)

Courtesy The Dragonslayer, Box 766 LaPorte CO 80535

 "For what nation is there so great, who hath God so nigh unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things what we call upon him for? And what nation is there so great, that hath statutes and judgments so righteous as all this law, which I set before you this day? Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy sons, and thy son's sons." (Deut 4:7-9). -----

Education without Godly moral training merely equips a person to get into more intelligent messes. -----

DISCOVER THE STORY OF YOUR BIBLICAL HERITAGE

Lawrence Blanchard, N.D., M.Div.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION

The Bible is the unfolding revelation of God's purpose and plan to establish and manifest His Kingdom through unconditional covenant promises to one man and his physical offspring. Until that is understood, by examining the biblical evidence of the historical sequence of God's working in and through this one man's family line through covenant relationship, the meaning of the Holy Scriptures is closed to your understanding as what it says and what it means by what it says. book 1 in this series

#584 @ sug don $25.20 - now $13.

TRUTH VERSUS OPINION

by W. H. Bennett

(note by TKC editor: A few years ago legislation was passed in Canada and Spain changing the definition of marriage. Many voices were raised in protest. Among them, the Roman Catholic Church was vehemently opposed. Silent for the most part were mainstream churches. Politicians were overwhelmingly in favour. It was, as one said, "justice served." Other nations will likely fall in line over the ensuing years as man's opinion will prevail. W.H. Bennett, former president of Canadian British Israel Association looked at similar decisions and wrote this short but very forceful argument.)

"For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled." Matt. 5:18.

One of the things which the people of this generation must learn before there can be any real progress towards overcoming the great problems which confront us, is that there are some things which are not matters of opinion — which remain true or false, right or wrong, regardless of what people may think of them.

For example, no sane person would think of questioning the multiplication table, the force of gravity, or the speed of light. These are eternal constants - facts which always were and always will be true. Two plus two equalled four long before there was a human being to recognize the fact, and will continue to do so throughout all eternity.

Obviously, such things are in no way affected by human opinion, for the fact that two plus two are four would remain true even if all the people in the world thought otherwise.

Truth, therefore, is NOT a matter of opinion. A thing is either true or it is false, it is either right or it is wrong, regardless of what anyone or any number of people may think.

This fact, so well recognized in mathematics and the sciences, applies with equal force in the field of human affairs. Here too, Truth is not a matter of opinion, but of fact. Right and wrong do not change to suit human desires or opinions but, like the multiplication table, they remain constant and eternal. How then are we to know the Truth, and how can we know right from wrong?

To this there can be but one answer. The truth concerning right and wrong in human behaviour and relations, is to be found only in that infallible Revelation of the Will and Purpose of the Creator which we call the Bible. In it, the Infinite Intelligence which conceived and created this boundless universe has revealed to us the eternal and unchanging standards by which we can know right from wrong in human affairs. This defining of what is right and what is wrong is in the form of Commandments and Laws dictated by the Creator Himself, and they too, like the multiplication table, are fixed and eternal.

Thus, regardless of what we may desire or think, or of what any number of people may think, the fact is that the ONLY way to attain righteousness in human affairs, and to avoid evil, is in unquestioning and implicit OBEDIENCE to God's Commandments and Laws. Human ideas and opinions are of no account whatsoever.

Further, this Truth applies to ALL human activity and relations; to ALL phases of our religious, political, social and economic life. Thus the right or the wrong of any religious teaching or practice is not a matter of opinion but of what the Word of God says. The right or the wrong way of governing our social actions and relationships is not a matter of opinion but of what the Word of God says. The right and wrong way of conducting our political and national affairs is not a matter of opinion to be decided by the ballot, but of doing as God Commands. The right or the wrong way of governing our social actions and relationships is not a matter of opinion, but of obedience to, and the enforcement of, God's Commandments and Laws. Likewise, the right or the wrong way of conducting our economic and financial affairs is not a matter of opinion, even if that opinion is of the supposedly expert variety, but rather of obedience to, and the administration of our economic affairs in conformity with God's Economic and Financial Laws.

Thus, regardless of what the politically ambitious and the experts may say, the Truth concerning right and wrong in human behaviour, and the conduct and administration of human affairs, is NOT a matter of opinion. It is an UNALTERABLE DIVINE DECREE.

We may deny or ignore this fact, as we have done, suffering the inevitable penalties as a result but, if we are ever to make any progress in overcoming the many problems confronting us today, we must recognize and act upon this fact; the Truth concerning right and wrong, as revealed in the Bible, is not subject to, or in any way affected by, human ideas and opinions. It must be observed, administered, and enforced, with UNQUESTIONING and IMPLICIT obedience. ALL ELSE WILL FAIL!

Courtesy TKC, Box 1478, Ferndale WA 98248

HOW DO I OBSERVE GOD'S SABBATH (REST)?

Q: How do I keep the Sabbath day holy? What do I do all day, and what about my kids? I have three children ages 3 and under. How do I care for them and still rest? I'm so confused about this, but God has put it on my heart, so I want to do it. Please help me if you can. From the Internet.

A: The command to keep the Sabbath holy may sound a little vague. The Sabbath is a day when we forget about our own wants and desires and we make extra time to study God's Word, gather for worship with others. We can also make extra time to meditate on His Words. It is a day on which God commands us to rest from our usual work. It is a day God has set apart—made holy—and given us to mentally and physically take a break from worldly labor.

When it comes to family and resting on the Sabbath, sometimes it can be challenging. Mothers still have to make sure that their children's needs are met even on the Sabbath, But the Sabbath can still be special for all family members.

Some parents make the Sabbath special for their children by such things as preparing special meals, singing songs together and doing Bible studies together with other families. With younger children it would probably be easier to start out with something simple. You can talk about the Sabbath and about God with your children. As they grow up you can involve them in preparing for the Sabbath. Keeping the Sabbath doesn't mean children can't have fun, but for some it does take some getting used to, to treat the day different to the rest of the week, a separated day.

Courtesy BT/UCG Box 541027 Cincinnati OH 45254, (edited)

Education is what you get from reading the fine print in a contract.
Experience is what you get from not reading it!

excerpt from
RISING FROM THE DEAD
by Suzanne Humphries, MD.

Doctors graduate medical school and residency blind to the vaccine issues apart from the idea that there is a very small group of “anti-vaccine” crazies with “low cognitive complexity in thinking patterns,” which prevents them from realizing the vaccines are victims of success, and that these crazy people spread misinformation and disease, and are a danger to us all. Today, new doctors are told to refute the rumors of vaccine damage and danger that circulate due to the nutters in the “anti-vaccine movement.”

The doctors who do know something more about vaccines, see how doctors like me are treated and don't want to have that kind of abuse directed at them. They send me letters of encouragement and continue their work in private.

Doctors are so scared that I have to agree to keep them behind a cloak of anonymity in order to have any meaningful conversation with them, beyond the first letter.

Parents need to realize that the medical system has progressed very little since the early days when Ignaz Semmelweis' discovery of harm (puerperal fever) and how to prevent the death of thousands of infants and mothers, was categorically ignored as quackery. The medical system considered his idea of washing hands with lime to prevent spread of disease, as the mark of a deluded doctor with low cognitive complexity and irrational thinking patterns.

Semmelweis, distraught at the continual needless deaths of women and babies, went off the rails and was tricked into confinement to a mental asylum, where he died. He's not the only pioneer who suffered the same fate. There is a cupboard full of names, which trainee doctors never get to hear about. They might be told of one, here and there, especially the ones who are well known—maybe Semmelweis, since it's good to admit something to students because that gives an illusion of full accountability.

I've taken time to study many of these people. Perhaps a hero in my eyes, because I'm American, would be Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, who spent many years upbraiding his arrogant American colleagues and accusing them of murdering children and mothers by spreading puerperal fever. Why is he a hero to me? Because the health and safety of his patients came before the stupid policy he was criticizing. Because he had a brilliant mind and was a fantastic medical school tutor who really understood his craft. Because he had unlimited courage and never stopped speaking out. Because he never let his murderous colleagues get him down, or stop his mouth. And because he chose to do all that while staying in the system in the hope that his colleagues would one day see sense.

In the end, however, he left the medical profession because he could see no end to the trail of deaths resulting from their stupidity and ignorance, and their refusal to listen. He resigned and lived out the rest of his life writing poetry that was nowhere near as good as his medical writings. The medical system lost a jewel in their crown and never even knew it.

He inspired me because in order to see change, we have to have courage, to speak out and be fearless, and ideally that needs to happen from inside a system. It's scary, because today it's also a system that tolerates less discussion and dissent that it did in Oliver Wendell Holmes' day. So if you are a medical professional, and feel the same as I do, these questions are for you:

Are your convictions enough for you to be another Oliver Wendell Holmes, and try to make a difference? Or will you sit quietly on the sidelines, looking out for your own self-interests? How will you feel when you are told you need to get all of the recommended vaccines for adults? How will you feel when your children have to get all the recommended vaccines in the childhood schedule? Will you want to exempt them from any of them? If so, you will need a qualified medical doctor to agree that your child has a condition that precludes vaccines. Will you be able to find such a medical professional, or will doctors who once were willing to sign such waivers be sitting trembling, like you, behind their own wall of silence?

Is compulsory vaccination the thin end of the wedge that also contains compulsory chemo for children with cancer [read: Sarah's Last Wish]? What will be next? Compulsory antibiotics? Compulsory birth control? Compulsory statins and blood pressure medication to go along with our compulsory 'health' insurance policies?

If so, that's the ultimate definition of automoron medicine, which might as well be staffed by robots. You will be out of a job anyway.

(© 2016 Dr. Suzanne Humphries. ISBN-10: 0692648186)

OH, IF WE WOULD JUST LISTEN.

by Brooks Alden

One of the greatest examples of God's protection of obedient Israelites occurred at the historic Battle of Blood River, South Africa, on December 16, 1838. Think of this! Here was a situation where 460 Afrikaner men, together with their wives and children, faced the overwhelming odds of more than fifteen thousand warriors (some accounts say 30,000). These Israelites could see full well the danger confronting them and they realized that only God could save them from certain death. So they turned in prayer to the Lord over seven days of fasting

On the morning of Dec. 16, under the leadership of Andries Pretorius and Sarel Cilliers, a covenant was made with the Lord, which said:

My brothers and fellow citizens, here we stand in the presence of the Holy God, creator of heaven and earth, to make a vow unto Him, that if His protection shall be with us and give our enemy into our hand so that we might be victorious over him, that this day and date every year shall be spent as a birthday and a day of thanksgiving, just as a Sabbath is spent, and that we shall erect a temple to His honour wherever it will be pleasing to Him, and that we shall also instruct our children that they must also share in it, as well as for our generations yet to come. Because the Honour of His name shall thereby be glorified, and the glory and honour of the victory shall be given Him."

By the end of the day the 460-odd Afrikaner men with their women and children not only successfully fought off the repeated onslaughts with the loss of Zulu lives estimated at 12,000 and not a single casualty on the Afrikaner side, but they also irrevocably bound future generations for survival to Him.

These Afrikaner Israelites knew their fate lay with the Lord God of Israel and they placed themselves entirely in His hands. Well, the rest is history.

Amazingly, not one Afrikaner was lost, nor were even one of their animals killed. Wondrous as it sounds, despite the bloodcurdling screams of the Zulu warriors, and one can only imagine what that would sound like, the Afrikaner's 900 oxen and 500 horses remained totally calm during the battle. Old Zulus who took part in the combat as young warriors later recounted that they were not beat by the firing from the Afrikaner camp, but from the shooting from the white cloud which hovered above them all day long. An astonishing story of history. Yet sadly, it was only when the Afrikaners lost control of their country to the money interests that the nation deserted God. The real South African tragedy is yet to unfold and when it does, all those young and deceived liberals in the Israelite nations who called for the overthrow of our brethren in that country will immediately recognize their folly.

To conclude, however, Psalm 40:5 is wisdom to be reflected upon: "Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done, and thy thoughts which are to us-ward: They cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: If I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered."

Remember, my friends, as evil continues to take hold, fervent prayer is our defense. Remember to celebrate December 16, with our South African kinsmen.

Courtesy TKC, Box 1478, Ferndale WA 98248

A VISITOR FROM THE PAST

by Thelen Paulk

I had a dream the other night, I didn't understand
A figure walking through the mist, with flintlock in his hand.
His clothes were torn and dirty, as he stood there by my bed.
He took off his three-cornered hat, and speaking low, he said:

"We fought a revolution, to secure our liberty.
We wrote the Constitution, as a shield from tyranny.
For future generations, this legacy we gave.
In this, the land of the free and home of the brave

"The freedom we secured for you, we hoped you'd always keep.
But tyrants labored endlessly while your parents were asleep.
Your freedom gone, your courage lost, you're no more than a slave. In this, the land of the free and home of the brave.

"You buy permits to travel, and permits to own a gun,
Permits to start a business, or to build a place for one.
On land that you believe you own, you pay a yearly rent.
Although you have no voice in choosing how the money's spent.

"Your children must attend a school that doesn't educate.
Your Christian values can't be taught, according to the State.
You read about the current news, in a regulated press.
You pay a tax you do not owe, to please the I.R.S. (A.T.O.)
Your money is no longer made of Silver or of Gold.

You trade your wealth for paper, so your life can be controlled.
You pay for crimes that make our nation, turn from God in shame.
You've taken Satan's number, as you've traded in your name.

"You've given government control, to those who do you harm,
So they can padlock churches, and steal the family farm, and keep our country deep in debt, put men of God in jail, harass your fellow countrymen, while corrupted courts prevail.

"Your public servants don't uphold, the solemn oath they've sworn
Your daughters visit Doctors, so their children won't be born
Your leaders ship artillery, and guns to foreign shores, and send your sons to slaughter, fighting other people's wars.

"Can you regain the freedom for which we fought and died?
Or don't you have the courage, or the faith to stand with pride?
As there are no more values for which you'll fight to save?
Or do you wish your children, live in fear and be a slave?

"Sons of the Republic, arise and take a stand Defend God's Law forever, the Supreme Law of the Land!
Preserve our Great Republic, and each GOD-Given Right!
And pray to GOD, to keep the torch of Freedom burning bright!"

As I awoke he vanished, in the mist from whence he came.
His words were true, we are not free,
we have ourselves to blame.
For even now as tyrants, trample each
GOD-Given Right.
We only watch and tremble, too afraid to stand and fight.

If he stood by your bedside, in a dream, while you're asleep, and wonders what remains, of the Rights he fought to keep,
what would be your answer, if he called out from the grave:

"IS THIS STILL THE LAND OF THE FREE AND THE HOME OF THE BRAVE??"

© 1988 Thelen Paul, Box 149 Watervliet MI 49098
(edited, with apologies to Thelen)

TRAINING OUR CHILDREN TO CHOOSE JESUS-LIKE FRIENDSHIPS, PT 2

by Ann Haney'

part 1 is in Messenger #359 for April 2016

In part one, we looked into friendships of Jesus and discovered what made a person a friend of His. If you recall, Jesus said in John 15:14, "You are My friends if you keep on doing the things I command you to do."

In this part, we are going to talk about two types of friendships in the Bible, "wise" and "foolish," and see how they affected those involved. Before we do this, though, I would like to answer three questions that I have been asked regarding friendships. "At what age should children be able to recognize Jesus-like fruit in others?"

To answer this I would suggest a look at the book of Proverbs with your child. If you have not done a study on this book of the Bible, you need to! It is amazing! Notice all the distinctions between wise and foolish. In the first chapter verse seven states, "But fools despise skillful and Godly wisdom, instruction, and discipline."

If potential friends have no discipline or respond negatively to discipline, this is not a friend that will lead others in a positive direction. If children do not obey their parents, who else will they not obey? (God, the law, teachers, etc.)

“How do we assess fruit within the framework that we are all on a spiritual journey and have faults?”

Here again, I believe the above Scripture says it all. If they have no desire to learn from their mistakes and their attitude reflects this unwillingness, they will not be a positive friendship. We will all make mistakes, but it is important that we have a desire to do right.

Generally, when we realize we have made a mistake or maybe we just need to know how to grow in an area, our response will be one that welcomes and respects the advice of those who seem to have the answer.

My children don't always immediately respond with thankfulness that I have corrected them but, once I have disciplined them, they are not as quick to make the same mistake again. We can look at our adult friendships in this way also. When God disciplines us for something, aren't we usually reminded of the consequences from the time before and more hesitant to make the same mistake again?

It is very apparent when an attitude within a person (even a Christian person) is contradictory to God's Word and they really have no desire to change it. They believe they are 'just fine' the way they are. If we let our children hang around these people too long they will have a distorted view of Godly behaviour.

“What about 'good people' who are not very far on their Christian journey and do some things we would not do? For instance, some of the movies they watch are clearly not good.”

Whatever a child lives at home will be the basis for their belief. If it is accepted in their home, to them it is okay. Their speech and behaviour will definitely be affected. They will probably, in their play time, act like the characters they have seen and talk about them, also. Your child might be able to say something like, “I don't watch that and I really don't like to hear about it, can we talk about or play something else?” If the “potential friend” continues anyway, your child needs to separate from their influence because, to them, this is not okay in the eyes of God.

Take a look at 1 Corinthians 8:13, “Therefore if [my eating food] is a cause of my brother's falling or of hindering [his spiritual advancement], I will not eat such flesh forever, lest I cause my brother to be tripped up and fall and be offended.”

Of course, we know this Scripture is ultimately talking about a Christian hindering the faith of a weaker person. I believe that it should be our desire to not let the spiritual advancement of others, as well as ourselves, be hindered.

We make it a practice in our home that, if we do something (we believe to be okay), but we have someone over to our house who does not believe it to be okay, we will not do it in their presence so as not to offend. Oftentimes, God reveals things to each of us differently. As long as it does not directly go against God's Word we need to understand we are all on different levels at different times in our lives.

Now, let's take a look at the two types of friendships in regard to wise and foolish. Proverbs 13:20 states, “He who walks [as a companion] with wise men is wise, but he who associates with [self-confident] fools is [a fool himself] and shall smart for it.”

The KJV says — “shall be destroyed.” This lets us know that the character of the friends our children (or we, ourselves) associate with will become our/their character. Those who walk with the wise will become wise; those with fools will become fools. You and they will be influenced by those you keep company with.

We need to ask ourselves the question, “What classifies a person as wise or foolish?” If we are going to help our children choose wise friends, we must determine the characteristics of a wise person in contrast to that of a foolish person to help them identify the difference between the two. The best place to do this is in the book of Proverbs. In the first four verses it states that the purpose of the book is to teach the young. The word “young” in verse four is ‘na ar’ in Hebrew meaning “from infancy to adolescent.”

Isn't it interesting that these things were to be taught at these ages?? If we can teach our children during these crucial ages to identify between wise and foolish relationships we have given them a strong foundation for their future choices. It is much harder to instill these things at older ages. The saying is true, “it is hard to teach an old dog new tricks.” If we look back to verse seven in chapter one, we notice the first requisite for wisdom takes place. It states, “The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge, but fools despise wisdom and instruction.”

In the very next verse it says, “My son, hear the instruction of the father and forsake not the teaching of your mother.”

We begin to see God clearly lining up the chain of command for gaining wisdom. The beginning of wisdom is God, then father and, then, mother. The word ‘instruction’ used in reference to the father in verse eight means “to discipline, chastise, check, and rebuke” in Hebrew. The word in Hebrew for ‘teaching’ in reference to the mother means “to instruct, inform, show, direct, and teach.”

Isn't it interesting that the father is to be the disciplinarian and the mother is to be the teacher? The father is responsible for enforcing the wisdom that is taught and the mother is responsible for teaching it.

Have you ever noticed children respond better to a dad's discipline and a mother has a greater success in reaching their children through teaching? This obviously makes sense because of the order God ordained.

Courtesy Homeschool Digest, Box 374 Covert MI 49043

CHRISTMAS

THREE GOOD REASONS

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they be of God....” 1 John 4:1a

There are many good reasons for a Christian to stop taking part in Christmas. But, let me share just 3 of those reasons with you. They are:

1. It is pagan with a spirit of antichrist.
2. It is direct disobedience to Jesus Christ our King.
3. It prevents God from healing our nation.

Books have been written which prove to the most casual reader the heathen roots of this day and season we call Christmas. “That Christmas was originally a Pagan festival is beyond all doubt... Upright men strove to stem the tide, but in spite of all their efforts, the apostasy went on, till the Church, with the exception of a small remnant, was submerged under Pagan superstition.”¹

There were three major pagan feasts around December 25th which are the roots of our present day Christmas. First was the Feast of SATURNALIA, or feast of Satan. The Concise Oxford Dictionary says Saturnalia was observed in December “as a time of unrestrained merry-making extending even to slaves.” Work stopped; schools closed; war was never declared; and gifts were given. Same as today.

Saturnalia was hardly over when the new year’s festival of KALENDS began. “In the middle of this period of general gaiety, there was a day set aside for special reverence to the Sun whose apparent rebirth on the Winter Solstice had originally provided the excuse for all these widespread pagan jollifications. This day was known as Dies Solis Invicti, Nati, the Day of the Birth of the Unconquered Sun, and it fell on what corresponds to 25 December in our calendar.”²

And finally we have YULE. “The very name by which Christmas is popularly known among ourselves - Yule day - proves at once its Pagan and Babylonian origin. ‘Yule’ is the Chaldee name for an ‘infant’ or ‘little child;’ as the 25th of December was called by the Pagans, ‘Yule-day,’ or ‘child’s day’ and the night that preceded it, ‘Mother’s night,’ long before they came in contact with Christianity...”³ It included great slaughtering of cattle and riotous parties much like today.

Now you can understand why so many non-Christians celebrate Christmas and New Years with drinking and carousing in the days leading up to them. The pagan ‘spirit’ has not changed—It is not the spirit of Christ but the spirit of antichrist—a spirit of drunkenness and riotous parties and ungodly behaviour. (in Amsterdam, where bordellos have shopfront windows, Christmas trees were a common sight. Also in many of the pubs - places where people go to be filled with (a, not the.) spirit. And also in many of the churches, pagan christmas trees are present). Antichrists and ungodly nations of our day take time to celebrate Christmas (or Winter Solstice as it is called in some nations): this alone should be reason enough to avoid it.

So with this information alone, why would any Christian continue to celebrate this heathen holiday? Possibly because of the emotional attachments and memories one has developed from childhood? Or perhaps its the fear of further alienation from family and friends in a day when we seem already alienated over so many other issues. Yet, our Savior told us that if we are not willing to separate even from our own family when necessary, we are not worthy of His kingdom. In Matthew 10:37 He said, “He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me: and he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me.”

A true Christian is a disciple, and a disciple is one who is under discipline. Our discipline should be the Word of God. Our King told us to observe only those things that He commanded us to observe. “Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you...” (Matt. 28:20a). Tell me, where is His command to observe His (so-called) birthday? You will search the Scriptures in vain but will find none. We are told to commemorate His death and remember His sacrifice for us, not His birth. Paul emphasized in 1 Corinthians 11:2, to “...keep the ordinances as I delivered them to you.” We should remember Him as our King and Savior. He is no longer a baby in a manger but the King of Israel: King of kings and Lord of lords. It is the world that desires to keep Him as a helpless baby.

“Perhaps some well-meaning parents may say: ‘But we only keep Christmas because it is so much fun for the children, we’re not REALLY worshipping Santa Claus and the tree, or those heathen gods!’

Let me pose some final questions for you to consider in your heart”

1. Have you considered that children understand things DIFFERENTLY than you might think they do?

2. Have you considered that your ‘acting out’ the rituals of pagan Baal will teach them to do so also? And thus begin another generation of the same rituals?

3. Have you considered that the emotions generated by “Christmas” rituals may well affect the ENTIRE LIFE of the children God has given you to teach and protect?”⁴

Why talk about conspiracies and the Beast of Babylon if we can’t stop our involvement in the biggest Babylonian holiday of the year. Even Jewish merchants love the Christmas season in spite of their hatred for Jesus our King.

The farther you look the more you can see a fleshly, carnal, selfish motive (spirit) behind this observance.

And, have you considered that it is lying to your children to tell them that Christmas is Jesus’ birthday when it isn’t. We don’t know when Jesus was born. About the only thing that we do know is that it was not in December! Paul warns us about “another Jesus, another gospel, and another spirit” (2 Cor. 11:4). The Jesus of Christmas is the Judeo-Christ (the false Jewish Jesus). The Christmas Story comes from the gospel of world brotherhood (and selfishness) and the spirit is the spirit of antichrist.

Don’t tell me that you believe that our King will heal our land and bless us individually if we don’t first purge ourselves of such heathenism John ended his first letter, “Little children, keep yourselves from idols (false worship).” Every Christian prays for our land to be healed and turned back to the God of the Bible. When we are confronted with our own personal behavior as it may affect this healing and turning back, we have no choice but to stop our idolatries.

Our forefathers the Puritans “...were people with a mission; single-minded, they worried lest devilish influences caused them to stray from the accomplishment of their purpose on earth, which was to work and prosper and thereby glorify God.”⁵ The puritan colony of Massachusetts passed a law that anyone “found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forbearing labor, feasting or in any other way, shall be fined five shillings.’ Many early Americans who refused to work on Christmas either went to jail or paid heavy fines.

My dear Christian brother, do we really want our land to be healed? Only the Lord’s method will work and it is outlined in your Bible at 2 Chronicles 7:13-14,

“If I shut up heaven that there be no rain, or if I command the locusts to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people: If my people, upon whom my name is called (Numbers 6:22-27), shall humble

American History

SOUNDING FORTH THE TRUMPET

Peter Marshall/David Manuel

brings to life one of the most crucial epochs in US History: the events leading up to and precipitating the Civil War. Relive the frenzy of the Gold Rush, the harsh realities of the Mexican War, the skirmishes of Bleeding Kansas, and emergence of Abraham Lincoln. Covers 1837 to 1860

#833 @ sug don $39.90 - now $20

themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.”

“My Christian friend—leave this pagan ritual—you will be amazed and delighted at the serenity and rest that will come upon you as you pass by the tensions and false emotions of “Christmas.” And teach your children the truth. You will see the new respect they have for you, and for Jesus. God will honor those who honor Him. God will prove in your children and grandchildren His promise, “Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old, he will not depart from it.”⁴

The prophet Elijah summed it up when dealing with the paganism of his day when he said, “... how long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him,” (1 Kings 18:21). Choose ye this day who is your Lord. Let’s get out from being under the religious spell of Babylon the Great whose time of judgment has come. “Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins and that ye receive not of her plagues” (Rev. 18:4).

Footnotes:

1. Rev. Alexander Hislop’s The Two Babylons
2. Michael Harrison’s The Story of Christmas
3. Hislop’s The Two Babylons
4. Pastor Sheldon Emry’s Is Christmas Christian?
- 5 William G. White’s Our Colonial Heritage: Plymouth & Jamestown.

Courtesy American Covenant Church, Medford OR

COLLOIDAL SILVER

The list of minor and serious conditions that can be resolved using Colloidal Silver (CS) is practically endless. CS has the capacity to help you rid yourself of an untold number of infections, disease conditions, or environmental concerns caused by or aggravated by the growth of bacteria, viruses, parasites, fungus, or moulds that are either outside or inside your body, or in your living environment.

Paradoxically, this extreme wide breadth of applications has the tendency to overwhelm most readers. The list is so long that people tend to de-focus and unwittingly minimize the full range of therapeutic possibilities that CS offers.

So besides drinking it, put a small amount into an atomizer spray bottle (2 or 4 oz, - 60 or 120 ml size) and carry it in your pocket. This type of finer spray bottle can be found in most chemists. By spraying it externally you can clear up everything from athlete’s foot to acne, nappy rash to poison ivy.

You will be amazed and pleasantly surprised by the results. The ideas listed below are designed as an indicator only. It’s only the beginning, you need to try it in order to see for yourself what CS can do. If you are a mother with young children, watch how quickly nappy rash, eye infections and ear infections clear up with CS - Spray directly onto the body and into a clean nappy. You can apply it with an eye dropper for any type of eye infection.

Ear infections quickly heal after spraying CS into the ear, saturating a small piece of cotton for an ear plug and then periodically re-spraying. Spray it in bandaids to shorten healing time, Spray immediately on burns (all types) to prevent infections, lower pain and promote faster healing with less scarring.

Also to bath water, gargles, colon irrigation and water-pic solutions. Added to douches, women will find that it will rapidly clear up vaginal/yeast infections and most cases of cystitis.

Older folks who are bedridden can especially benefit from Silver Colloid, Rinse all the sheets, pillow cases, towels, blankets etc., by pouring a large cupful into your washer during its rinse cycle. Naturally, spray on festering bed sores, skin rashes, psoriasis, etc., and watch what happens! Add to soaks for dentures and dental appliances. Allergic reactions to certain foods or other irritants can cause hives or welts to appear on any area of the body of susceptible people shortly after exposure. Instead of running to the Doctor for a steroid prescription of topical Cortizone or worse yet Prednizone, spray CS in the affected area and watch hives disappear in 15 minutes or so!

I never come down with a bug after long plane trips because I always spray CS in my mouth and inhale the mist through my nose and lungs every thirty minutes or so while on the plane. Oral spraying also eliminates bad breath and reduces gum inflammation or abscess pain.

Pet lovers need to add a capful to their pet’s drinking water and spray inside open cans of pet food that are stored in the refrigerator. Add a cupful to bird baths, the dog’s bath, or your bath. Of course, spray it into Fluffy’s fur and skin if she has any type of eczema, skin sore, abrasion, or a wound that won’t heal etc. Spray bedding and let dry. Put CS in a large spray bottle for around the kitchen, bathrooms and laundry. Mist sponges, towels, counters and cutting boards to eliminate odours (especially when preparing seafood, salmonella, (the tainted beef bug that you’ve been reading about in the newspapers) and other food-borne pathogens

Spray on fruits and vegetables before storing. Use when canning, preserving or bottling. Add to milk to slow spoilages. Spray garbage cans and refrigerator shelves to eliminate unpleasant odours. Add to dishwasher and mopping solutions.

In the bathroom, spray shower stalls, toilets, bath mats, and pour a couple of cups into baths (the spa too). Add to water over sauna rocks or utilised steam baths. Use it in gymnasium foot dips. Spray it in urinals, bidets, toilet seats and sinks.

Around the house add a capful to 3.5 litres of water and use as a plant spray to stop fungi, moulds, rot and most plant diseases. Eliminate unwanted organisms in planter soils and hydroponic systems. Add to suspected drinking water when travelling or camping. It will neutralise all disease-causing pathogens within six minutes. Spray it in your shoes to eliminate foot odour. Household repairmen can add it to water-based paints, wallpaper glues and sizing compounds to deter mould and mildew. If you live in a humid environment, spray it on carpets, drapes and stored clothing and free yourself of musty odours and mildewed clothes.

Dr. Bob Beck (CI-276 @ $9) repeatedly pointed out in his many lectures that there are literally thousands of other beneficial uses for CS that need to be attempted and explored. So this is your change. Do your part and experiment with this marvellous gift of nature. Also remember regular intake of CS is essential to safeguard yourself from the upcoming bird flu.

For more information Please contact: F. Jeulink, PO Box 110, Deloraine Tas. 7304

Thank you again for your mail and material requests and your support. Again some have mentioned varying doctrines coming from some Identity sources. We try to eliminate as much erroneous material as possible but sometimes a message contains much that is worthwhile. You have to learn to judge what to accept and what to reject. May our God bless you and keep you safe in the coming year,

